Daily Meditations

"This morning I held sweet communion with my God."

—The Army Mother.

SUNDAY:

Say to them that are of a broken heart, Be strong, fear not.—Isaiah 35:4.

Why shouldst thou fill to-day with sorrow

About to-morrow,

My heart?

One watches all with care most true,

Doubt not that He will give thee too

Thy part.

Let us sing Song No. 867.

MONDAY:

And because ye are sons, God hath sent the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying, Abba Father.—Gal. 4:6.

O Lord, forgive my sin,

And deign to point within

A calm, obedient heart, a patient mind;

That I may murmur not,

Though bitter seem my lot;

For hearts unthankful can no blessing find.

Let us sing Song No. 791.

TUESDAY:

Now the Lord of peace Himself give you peace always, by all means.—2 Thessalonians 3:16.

Peace, peace, sweet peace,

Wonderful gift from above;

Oh, wonderful, wonderful peace,

Sweet peace, the gift of God's love.

Let us sing Song No. 311.

WEDNESDAY:

And when the people complained, it displeased the Lord.—Numbers 11:1.

When thou hast thanked thy God

For every blessing sent,

What time will there remain

For murmurs or lament?

Let us sing Song No. 313.

THURSDAY:

Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:9.

By Thine unerring Spirit led,

We shall not in the desert stray;

We shall not full direction need,

Or miss our providential way;

As far from danger as from fear,

While love, almighty love, is near.

Let us sing Song No. 772.

FRIDAY:

Ye shall not go out with haste, for the Lord will go before you; and the

Plain Questions

HAVE you sinned at least once each day since you reached the age of accountability?

Have these sins influenced others to sin?

Summing up the evil that you yourself have done and the evil for which you are directly responsible, what do you think the result would be?

Do you not think the total would be enough to sink your soul in ruin forever?

Then listen to the glad news! Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, and He has Salvation enough for every man, woman and child in the world.

Repent of your sins, turn from them, and flee into the loving arms of God's mercy!

God of Israel will be your reward.—Isaiah 3:12.

His call we obey, like Abram of old, Not knowing our way, but faith makes us bold;

For though we are strangers, we have a good Guide,

And trust in all dangers—the Lord will provide.

Let us sing Song 776.

Shallows or the Deep—Which?

Your Spiritual Experience Will Never Be Satisfactory Until the Shorelines are Released

THE MASTER of wave and tempest once said: "Launch out into the deep!" He is saying it still.

How deep, He does not say. The depth into which you launch will depend on how perfectly you have given up the shore, the greatness of your need, and of the apprehension of your possibilities. The fish are to be found in the deep, not in the shallows.

So with you, so with all of us. Your needs can only be met in the deep things of God. Launch out into the deep, nothing fearing, nothing doubting. Launch now!

LAUNCH OUT into the deep of the Atonement, until Christ's precious blood is so illuminated by the Holy Spirit that it becomes an omnipotent balm, and food and medicine for soul and body.

LAUNCH OUT into the deep of the Father's Will, until you apprehend it in its infinite minuteness and goodness, and its far-reaching and all-embracing care.

LAUNCH OUT into the deep of the Holy Spirit, until He becomes a bright, dazzling, sweet, fathomless sea, in which you bathe and receive cleansing, refreshing strength and power for soul-winning service.

LAUNCH OUT into the deep of God's providence where you will find the most marvelous answers to prayer, the most tender and careful guidance, the most thoughtful anticipation of your needs, the most accurate and supernatural shaping of your events.

Into all these things Jesus bids you launch. He made you and He made the deep, and to its fathomless depths He has fitted your longings and capabilities.

LAUNCH OUT! The deep waters of God's wonderful grace are always accessible. Not merely ankle-deep, knee-deep, waist-deep, but self-deep. They are waters to swim in! No longer need you cling to the shorelines of an inadequate spiritual experience. Christ bids you trust Him!

The Rope Was Too Short!

A PREACHER was addressing a large gathering of people when, in the course of his speech, he exhorted his hearers to take Christ as their pattern in life. If they would do this, he said, they would be saved.

There was a poor fellow, bearing upon his features the unmistakable marks of sin, listening attentively to what was being said. He suddenly interrupted the speaker by crying, "Nay, Mister, your rope's not long enough for such as me." Here was a case that the doctrine being preached could not help, and the poor fellow knew it. Better throw no rope to a drowning man than mock him by throwing a rope that is too short. And the rope of salvation by a person's own effort is far too short, it is no rope at all.

God has provided a full, free Salvation for all. He gave His own Son to die—not as an example to man, but as the substitute for sinners. His death met God's righteous claims, enabling Him to be just, and yet the Justifier of all who believe in Jesus. He is not simply our pattern, but our Saviour and our Life.

The Comforter's Promise

"I will never leave thee, nor forsake."—Hebrews 13:5.

"I will never leave thee"—

Oh, how sweet to know

Jesus will be with me

Everywhere I go;

Through the nights of sadness,

And the hours of pain,

Or the days of gladness,

He is just the same.

"I will not forsake thee"—

Love so true and pure!

There I fly and straightway

Find my refuge sure.

Dearest ones may sever

Friendship's golden chain,

But Christ's love for ever

Constant will remain.

"I will never leave Thee,

Saviour of mankind,

Take my hand and lead me

Where life's path may wind;

Downward in the valley

Or o'er mountain steep,—

Anywhere I'll follow

Prints of Thy dear feet.

I will not forsake Thee,

All in Thee I find,

Take my life and make me

To Thy will resigned!

Then, like Thee, in beauty,

Daily I shall grow,

And in love and duty,

Thy dear image show.

"I will never leave Thee,

Friend to me so true!

Nor wilt Thou forsake me,

All life's journey through!

Faithful is this promise

Made 'twixt Thee and me,

With Love's Seal upon it,

For eternity!—Albert E. Elliott.

MY FRIEND.—IV.

By Zoe Hager Durham

"I SPEAK OF MY FRIEND!"

HOW we love to draw near and speak of our mutual friends. We are never too busy to count and recount the excellences of a friend. Each little trait, each slightest incident is told and re-told that memory might lose nothing of that precious lore in sacred friendship. To talk about a friend to a mutual friend is ever the most pleasant of tasks.

Is not this the story of all friends? Is not this a comforting, consoling thing to do, to speak with our friends, about our intimate friend who has been constant in sunshine and rainy weather, on whom at all times we have heavily leaned and with whom we have walked side by side with a song of joy upon our lips? We have joy in the friend from whom we have hidden nothing and who has opened the heart to us unrestrainedly. Let us look back over life, filled with multi-fold passing joys and we shall find that its hours went more swiftly and our hearts beat faster when we spoke of dearest friends.

But have we not, sometimes, hesitated to speak about Jesus openly, and yet He is the dearest FRIEND of all? Oh, we must speak of our PRECIOUS FRIEND because He fills our hearts the most, and His comforting stands alone, unrivalled. He wishes all men to know of our sacred FRIENDSHIP. He wishes us to extend His reign over hearts. We must rejoice to tell of His boundless per-

More Courage

IT TAKES more courage to speak to a man face to face and tell him what ought to be told him, than to shoot at him from the pulpit or platform.

It takes more courage to speak face to face with a brother about what you consider his shortcomings or his perils, than it does to use the pen or the press to shoot at him from the cover of a bit of paper.

It takes more courage to be honest and modestly frank, than it does to smile and pretend friendship when, behind another's back, you listen to others attack him and, by your silence, condone the things said.

It takes more courage to admit a blunder than it does to excuse your way past it.

fections and His constant watchfulness and yearnings over us.

Sweet, oh, sweet, beyond compare, beyond the words we are able to say, ought it be for us to tell all of all the well-loved ways of this our dearest FRIEND, and let all men know that it is our ambition to be like Him in every thought, word and deed, for this is the mastering passion of our lives.

O Jesus, lover of my soul, Thou didst call to me and save me when I was afar and faint for the deep joys of the spiritual life. I do love Thee as none other, and I hold Thee dear as I hold none other, and men shall know my love for Thee that I may win others for Thee, that I may teach others of Thy boundless love and sacred friendship for mankind.

SAVED FROM—WHO KNOWS WHAT?

A Foolish Escapade Lands a Young Man in a Serious Predicament; Then, in the Nick of Time, Came the Man in Blue

Talking to himself. While Staff-Captain Bunton was puzzling over the case here recounted, the photographer entered his office and "snapped" him; when he stood up, he was "captured" once more, with the above result

IT WAS a foolish escapade! The lad worked at a garage and, after hours, had borrowed a car without sanction from his employer and had taken a chum for a drive.

On the way he met with an accident. Result—$100 worth of damage, and a woman hurt.

That was a pretty kettle of fish. A—found himself in the police court, of course. But, fortunately for him, Staff-Captain Bunton had heard the story. He interviewed the boy, appraised things at their true value, and decided that it would be a calamity for the lad to be sent to jail; it might mean the beginning of a criminal career—who knows?

He had to do a bit of thinking to decide what he could do to help the lad. His first step was to see the lad's employer. "If the judge lets this boy off," he said to the garage proprietor, "will you take him back into your employ?" In urging this, the Staff-Captain presented his case, first, purely as a good business proposition. "If you do not," he said, "you will lose $100; if you do, the lad will pay you the money you have lost, as a result of damage to the car, out of his weekly earnings." The Army's Police Court Officer had other strings to his bow, and pleaded the lad's youth, and that to go to prison might mean the first step in a criminal's career.

The employer could not see it at first; he was naturally incensed over the matter. But he promised to think it over. He did so, and evidently realizing the logic of the argument, agreed to give the lad another chance if he was let off.

So far, so good. The next step was to see the Magistrate, to whom the Staff-Captain told the whole story, pleaded the lad's youth and previous good record, pointed out that this was a thoughtless boy's escapade, and that imprisonment might be calamitous to him.

The upshot was that the boy was let off into the Staff-Captain's care, and to-day is back at his old job, a sadder, wiser, and not least, a grateful lad, who means to make good, and show his employer and The Army that he fully appreciates the kindness and consideration shown him.

A WEEKLY LETTER

TO MY PRISON FRIEND

No. 31.—"What Can I Do With a Drunken Wife?"

Dear Friend:

I am sometimes asked this question, and I can quite understand the sorrowful plight a man is in if he has a wife addicted to strong drink, and especially if he has a family.

Such a man must not give up hope. If he has patience he may have the experience of a man. I was once called to see. He worked hard for his wife and family, only to see his wages taken and most of it spent on booze.

The children were left at home while the mother was away for days at a time. He was a praying man, and he said he believed she would yet see her condition and give up the terrible habit. I remember the time she came home and started to pile her few belongings into a taxi. She was missing for a time, but my friend did not despair.

When she was thoroughly disgusted with herself, she returned home in penitence. She was forgiven, and now regularly attends Army services with her husband. She, too, has become a praying woman. Her home—oh! what a change. The children are happy, and when I last called and saw the smiles on their faces, I thought what a miracle of grace it was.

Patience and prayer brought about the change. Why then despair? I am sure there is some person who reads these lines who knows of someone who needs help right now. The Army Officers have experience in advising such; why not try them?

Next week, "Sixteen to twenty."—N.R.T.

NEARLY ENDED LIFE IN THE THAMES

"Too Big" for Sunday School—The Pupil of a Jail-bird—The Hand That Came Out of the Darkness—A New Morning

WHEN I first met The Army I was just a boy, spending my summer holidays with an aunt in Kingsclere, Hants, England. My uncle worked in the racing stables, and my aunt would wake me up in the morning to see the horses when they came out for training.

On our way home one day I saw a number of people, dressed in uniform, marching along the street singing, "We're bound for the Land of the pure and the holy." I noticed that these people, who seemed so happy, were all chained and handcuffed together, with policemen at their side.

I asked my aunt what it all meant, and she told me they were people who went about causing disturbance wherever they went. These people had come down to Kingsclere for an outing, and had started to hold meetings in the street, when they were arrested. They were tried at the County Court, and sentenced to Winchester Prison. They had to march five miles to a railway station to entrain for Winchester.

I learned that the Officer's name was Captain Fynn, who died suddenly a few years ago as Colonel Fynn, leader of the National Staff Band, in Chicago.

Ran Away From Home

When my holidays were over I went back to my home town, and it was not long before I saw The Army in the Market Place on Saturday nights. Whenever possible I would go to hear the Band, but my people, when they found this out, forbade me ever to go to see these people again.

Time came when I left school and went to work. I began to feel "too big" to go to Sunday School, and so stayed away. Then I got into bad company and into trouble. Rather than face the music with my parents, I ran away from home and went to London, where I was soon hard up. I applied to Dr. Barnado's Home for admittance, claiming my people were dead. The superintendent, however, knew me and my people, as he belonged to the same town. I did not know that at the time.

He made arrangements for me to be sent home. I escaped, and commenced to tramp all over the country, living by begging and stealing, sleeping in casual wards, stables, haystacks, or anywhere I could get.

For six months I travelled with a ticket-of-leave man, learning from him all the "tricks of the trade." Several times I was arrested and sent to prison. Finally, I went back to London, dirty, forlorn, and ragged.

On New Year's Eve, in 1899, I was tired of life, and made my way down to Cleopatra's Needle, on the Thames Embankment, with one object in view — to throw myself into the waters and end it all. Life was not worth living, I decided.

Sergeant George Hawkesworth, Ottawa I

I was about to jump, when, out of the darkness, a hand grasped me, and a man spoke to me, asking me what I was doing. The hand and voice belonged to Brigadier Frank Aspinall, a saint of God, since gone to Heaven.

A New Thought

I told him I was tired of life and intended to end it all. "Please let me go," I pleaded. He replied, "Have you ever thought that it would only be the beginning of a terrible eternity, and instead of ending all you would only plunge into a worse condition?"

Then he told me of the Saviour's love, and that if I would only repent of my sin God would come to my help. "Will you not pray to God right here," he asked, "and accept Him as your Saviour?"

Thank God, I did! He forgave my sin. Hallelujah!

That was a new morning of a New Year, and also a new morning of a new life for me.

My friend took me to Blackfriars Shelter, where there was a free breakfast, and in the meeting there I knelt at the Penitent-form. The devil said I was a fool, I would only starve; but the Brigadier gave me God's promise, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all other things shall be added."

God's promise has proved to be true. I was given work in the Shelter, and later sworn-in as a Soldier, becoming attached to Southwark Slum Corps. Then I was transferred to a new Shelter, opened at Millbank Street, Westminster, as Assistant Cashier, and was later made second-in-charge of the Men's Metropole, Hatton Gardens, where God used me for the Salvation of many men.

In 1906 I came to Canada, and God has been with me all along the way. Praise His Name!

—Sergeant George Hawkesworth, Ottawa I.

THE SECOND HALF-CENTURY WELL BEGUN

Glorious Outbreak of Revival Fire Follows Jubilee Congress Gatherings—Well-Filled Penitent-Forms Maintain The Army's Early-Day Traditions

TWENTY SEEKERS AT MEMORIAL

During the memorial service of our promoted comrade, Sister Mrs. Jameson, conducted by Mrs. Major Allan and the staff of Sunset Lodge at ELLICE AVENUE, Winnipeg (Adjutant and Mrs. McEachern), there were twenty seekers, including a number of backsliders of many years standing. The prayer-meeting was fought to a finish and resulted in a great victory for the Kingdom of God.

During the service Corps Sergeant-Major Robson paid a worthy tribute to our late comrade who had served in the ranks of The Army for more than fifty years and was eighty-five years old when she died.

Major Carruthers and Major Oake were both present at the service and rendered splendid assistance, as did also the Band and Songsters. A wonderful impression was made on the audience which crowded the Hall.—A McEachern, Adjutant.

ENCOURAGING MESSAGES

The Lord of Hosts is surely with us at NORTH BATTLEFORD (Captain and Mrs. Belkovich). Our Harvest Festival services were glorious times of blessing, and during the Altar service on Sunday evening, the comrades gave liberally of their means to the cause.

Our Soldiers' meetings are increasing in attendance. The Songster Brigade is doing splendidly and the Home League is keeping well up in interest under the leadership of Sister Mrs. Larson.

During last week-end we had a visit from Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Horn of Saskatoon, who both gave encouraging messages and were the means of much blessing to the comrades.—J.S.

A WELL-FOUGHT DAY

We thank God for victory at CHATHAM, Ont. (Major and Mrs. Higdon). The Holiness meeting, conducted by Mrs. Higdon, was a time of blessing and inspiration, when God drew near. In the afternoon the Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Dunkley, broadcast the first of a series of monthly services, the

PRAYER CHANGES THINGS

We are delighted to report from TORONTO I (Major Woolfrey) that revival fire came upon us on Sunday when the meetings were led by Envoys Shankland and Weaver.

The Holiness meeting was a blessed time. A Polish Sister who was converted two years ago, sought the blessing of Holiness. She was dealt with by "Hallelujah Annie," a Finnish comrade. A comrade also came forward feeling his need of living nearer to God. He afterward said in his testimony that, although he had prayed personally at home, yet he had not had family worship. He said that he was going home to start it.

At night Envoy Shankland spoke on "No man can serve two masters," and four seekers knelt at the Penitent-form.

The Young People's Salvation meeting also shared in the blessings of the day and experienced a glorious time. Two Young People sought the Saviour. Prayer changes things, Glory!

Under the leadership of Bandmaster Evans, by the good blessing of God, we are experiencing a musical revival. Sister Mrs. Evans has been commissioned as Young People's Sergeant-Major in the place of Sister Mrs. Covey, who resigned on account of ill health. Sister Mrs. Anderso is doing good work as Band of Love leader.—A.S.

MOVING MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service for the late Mrs. Adjutant Baird was held at LISGAR STREET (Adjutant and Mrs. Howlett) on Sunday, October 23rd, Staff-Captain Bunton being in charge. There was a large crowd in attendance.

Among those to pay tribute to the memory of our promoted comrade was Colonel Miller (R) and Mrs. Staff-Captain Bunton. Envoy Burditt read Psalm 46, and Sister Helen Baird and Gwen McElhiney sang a duet. The Songsters feelingly sang "From Conflict to Glory."

Staff-Captain Bunton made a strong appeal to the unsaved in his address, and we rejoiced when four seekers came to the Mercy-seat, among whom were our promoted comrade's only son and his wife. Our prayers are for the bereaved.

THE REVIVAL SPIRIT

Brigadier and Mrs. Tilley were the visitors at GUELPH (Commandant and Mrs. Laing) over the week-end when the meetings conducted by them were the means of much blessing to the comrades. Attendances increased considerably, and the spirit of revival predominated throughout.

Sunday morning the Divisional Commander paid a visit to the Ontario Reformatory, conducting a meeting with the inmates with splendid results. This was followed by a return to the Citadel where he delivered a profitable address. A stirring appeal brought six seekers to the Mercy-seat.

Brigadier and Mrs. Tilley visited the Company meeting in the afternoon, conducting Decision Sunday meeting among the Young People. There were six decisions.

The Salvation meeting at night was a fitting climax to a most successful and profitable week-end campaign, resulting in nine penitents at the Mercy-seat. As at the previous meetings the Band and Songsters had prepared suitable selections in keeping with the meetings.

CADET BRIGADE WELCOMED

A real WYCHWOOD (Captain and Mrs. Hiltz) welcome was accorded our brigade of women Cadets, under Sergeant Tame, during the week-end. The Holiness meeting was a hallowed time and the message given by Cadet Mrs. Poulton most helpful. The Bible lesson, by Staff-Captain Bracey explained the cost of Discipleship and what obedience to the command of Christ involved.

The afternoon was the commencement of our series of Free-and-Easy meetings. A goodly crowd was present and enjoyed the testimonies of the Cadets. Piloted by the Staff-Captain, the Salvation meeting was a time of blessing. The invitation-song by the Songsters, and the playing of the Band solemnized our hearts.

Cadet Nelson gave an interesting talk and the address, delivered by Sergeant Tame, brought deep conviction. We rejoiced at seeing one seeker at the Penitent-form.—"Mac."

A GLORIOUS BREAK

Seldom in recent times has the Holy Spirit so manifested Himself among us as He did on Sunday at DOVERCOURT (Adjutant and Mrs. Mundy). Half-way through the morning meeting a comrade rose from a back seat and voluntarily made his way to the Mercy-seat. He was followed by others and the meeting became a time of prayer and consecration.

The collection and lesson passed by unheeded, and a glorious season of spiritual refreshing closed with fifteen seekers at the Mercy-seat, including one man who had been attracted to The Army by the after-meetings, conducted by the

—NORTH MEETS SOUTH

Here is Major Steele, of the North and Mid-Ontario Division, shaking hands with Major Best, who commands the London Division

Band during the Sunday evenings in the summer.

The night meeting was as glorious a time as the morning. Led by Adjutant Ware, who delivered an arresting address, listened to with rapt attention by the large crowd assembled and participated in by Major Snowden and Adjutant Mundy, this meeting was alive with Holy influence and atmosphere. Fifteen more seeking souls were the visible results. Three times the Doxology was sung, and each time another seeker came forward with a determination not to let the meeting close with the soul out of touch and harmony with the Saviour.

Hallelujah for a day of victory, and the enemy's ranks depleted by thirty!—E.L.W.

SURRENDERED HIS PIPE

We have successfully concluded another Harvest Festival Effort at BROCKVILLE (Captain and Mrs. Lorimer). The comrades worked hard, and much credit is due Sister Mrs. Walters, who personally collected considerably over one hundred dollars. We may also add that seven hundred copies of the Golden Jubilee "War Cry" have been sold.

Recently a man came to the Penitent-form and surrendered his pipe and tobacco. Last Thursday evening Captain Oliver dropped in on his way home from the Congress, and delivered a stirring message.

YOUNG PEOPLE STIRRED

(By Wire)

Winnipeg Citadel Young People in their gathering on Monday night experienced a great mellowing of spirit. Adjutant Larman, the Corps Officer, baptized with the power of God, gave a stirring message which resulted in a score of teenage young people coming forward. Sweet victory was recorded in almost every case.

We are looking forward to a great move to the Cross during the Winter Campaign.—J.R.W.

WHEN EAST MEETS WEST—

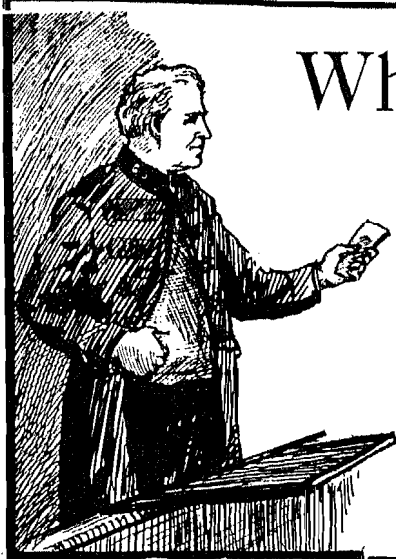

A further Congress glimpse, showing Lieut.-Colonel Burton, of Newfoundland, greeting Major Dalziel, all the way from the Pacific Coast

Songsters and Male Quartet assisting. Messages were received over the phone, showing the appreciation of radio audiences.

The Salvation meeting, conducted by Adjutant Martin, of St. John proved the climax of the day's effort when the message delivered was owned by God. Mrs. Captain Evenden, home on furlough, also took part in the meeting, giving Godly counsel and advice.

During a hard-fought prayer-meeting, we had the joy of seeing six seekers at the Cross. To God be all the glory!—J.H.D.

What Do We Mean By Holiness?

First of a New Series which all should Read

BY THE GENERAL

This new series of articles is an indication of the General's deep desire that all Salvationists, and as many others as can be reached by his words, shall enjoy the full and complete spiritual health which is available for all. He trusts that many who will read will translate into practice the guidance given, so that there may be on every hand new evidence of the satisfying power of Christ in the lives of His Salvation Soldiers

I CANNOT do better than begin the first of the articles I am to write for "The War Cry" on the subject of Holiness by explaining just what I mean by the experience widely known by this name.

Many of my readers are, I know, quite used to hearing about and accepting, in a general sort of way, the idea of Holiness as a doctrine of The Salvation Army, but there may be some who do not quite comprehend what is meant by it.

Let it be understood from the first that I am addressing myself to the individual reader; trying to explain to him or to her what this great experience means. The subsequent development of my theme will be directed in the same way for the enlightenment and blessing of the individual, to the end that some who read, and who are converted, will enter into the blessed life of Full Salvation and be able and ready to testify to its experience.

A Great Deliverance

The state of Holiness may be described as whole-ness or spiritual health. One may call it by various names; for example: "Sanctification," "Full Salvation," "Perfect Love," or a "Clean Heart," but, whatever the name used, it means, in the first place, a life of freedom from all known, or conscious sin. It means that a great deliverance from the presence of sin in the heart has been effected, a Salvation over and above that marvellous burden-lifting which took place when the soul first turned to God in conversion.

A moment's reflection on the precise meaning of some of the names referred to will be of service here. Note, for instance, that when we speak of a "Clean Heart," we mean a condition of inward purity. That is what David prayed for when the full realization of his sin came upon him. He knew that the wickedness he had done had followed after the wickedness his mind had allowed and dwelt upon, and so he cried: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalm li. 10). It was because our blessed Lord knew how evil actions arise that He said: "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

Daily Victory

The expression, "Full Salvation," or "Fully Saved," means that by God's power the soul has been cleansed from all sin, and by the same power is enabled to live, day by day, victorious over every inclination or temptation to sin again.

Then there are helpful ideas connected with the term "Perfect Love." This means that the soul is full of love to God, and as a result is able and delighted to do His will. It does not mean that we are without fault, or that we are so excellent in character that we cannot be made better, but it does mean that, as the soul definitely parts from sin and receives power to live without sin, it becomes daily more and more possessed of those graces which are the delightful adornment of a true Christian character.

There is yet another aspect of the matter on which I must dwell for a moment. That is the part which devotion plays in the sanctified life. The word Sanctification means not only separation from sin, but also dedication to God's service, so that there is something we have to be, and also something that has to be done. It is not enough merely to refrain from evil. Our lives must be full of effort and devotion for God and for others.

So we may say that the soul which has entered into this holy life is full of love to God and entirely surrendered to Him. The individual heart is delivered from all known sin and reveals a spirit after the pattern of Christ, and is dedicated to His service for others.

This is the Full Salvation taught by the New Testament—the out-and-out Full Salvation purchased for us by the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the experience of which our Founder and The Army Mother talked. They longed for every Salvationist to possess it. As thousands can joyfully testify, it is no high-flown, up-in-the-air, imaginative or make-believe religious theory, but a real experience of righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost.

Have You Got It?

I hope I have succeeded in making it sufficiently clear for every one who reads this article to understand, even if they have never understood it before.

Do you enjoy Full Salvation?

Have you got it? If not, seek it now. Begin to pray and surrender and have faith in God—the faith that says: "I will not let Thee go until Thou bless me," and victory will come.

Next week in this series: "Full Salvation as a Necessary Experience."

Past and Present

The Chief Secretary Presides Over Dovercourt's Annual

THE annual Congress week Festival, by Dovercourt Band, on Thursday of Congress week, brought together an inspiring audience of several hundred keenly appreciative music-lovers, who at the close of the program, were unanimous in acclaiming it "One of the best yet!"

A joyous, typical Congress spirit obtained from first to last, and under the able chairmanship of the Chief Secretary, who was supported by his brother, Major Dalziel, and Major Ham, this Jubilee Festival not merely—as was the underlying purpose—linked The Army's past with the present by the medium of music, but served to remind us again of the international character and spirit of The Army. Selections and marches by "Our Own" composers, resident as far apart as India and the United States, New

FRENCH CORPS VICTORIES

The visit of Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Peacock, accompanied by Adjutant and Mrs. McBain, to MONTREAL III (Adjutant MacGillivray, Captains Wheeler and Brokenshire) was greatly appreciated. The Hall was crowded for the meeting and many people could not gain admittance.

During the evening the Colonel enrolled two Senior Soldiers and Adjutant McBain six Junior Soldiers. The messages of the visitors, including that of Professor Villard, whom we are always delighted to have with us, brought much blessing to us. Best of all, we rejoiced when ten seekers knelt at the Mercy-seat during the prayer-meeting.

SIXTEEN SEEKERS

The Sunday morning after Congress at HAMILTON III (Adjutant and Mrs. Barr) ten comrades came forward to reconsecrate themselves to God. It was a wonderful meeting and we finished up at 1.30 p.m.

At night, following the opening song, a backslider responded to the invitation. Another seeker followed. A comrade then came forward for re-consecration and a sinner knelt at the Cross for Pardon. The meeting resumed with testimony and song, after which another comrade came for re-consecration, making sixteen seekers for the day. Hallelujah!

NEW SOLDIERS

Harvest Festival at GRANDVIEW, Vancouver (Adjutant and Mrs. Ede) was celebrated in a true spirit of rejoicing. Our Officers conducted bright meetings, and the Salvation meeting was the best attended in weeks. In the Holiness meeting the Adjutant impressed upon us the necessity of dying to sin. Brother and Sister Armstrong were given a hearty welcome from Cranbrook, our comrades saying that our Band was the first Army Band they had heard for years. Brother Armstrong has taken his place in the trombone section of the Band, thus renewing the Band experience commenced years ago in the Old Land, and broken during his stay in the country.

In the Salvation meeting the Adjutant enrolled two Senior Soldiers, one a transfer from the Juniors. There was one seeker.

On the previous Sunday we farewelled another Candidate to add to Grandview's splendid quota now in the Work. In the Salvation meeting there were several speakers including Young People's Sergeant-Major Brown, Lieut.-Colonel Goodwin (R) and Adjutant Ede. Candidate Margaret Docker said that she would take with her the "Hidden promises of God"—promises that will help her during the days ahead. The Senior Band played appropriately the selection "Thoughts That Comfort."—S.C.M.

AMONG THE POTS:

A PROPHET'S VISION FULFILLED
IN THE KITCHEN

A BLESSING IS IN IT

Years That Leave a Track of Light

THE Lord bless thee, and keep thee.

*The Lord bless thee—
How shall He bless thee?
With the gladness that knoweth no decay,
With the riches that cannot pass away,
With the sunshine that makes an endless day—
Thus may He bless thee.*

*And keep thee—
How shall He keep thee?
With the all-covering shadow of His wings,
And the strong love that guards from evil things,
With the sure power that safe to Glory brings—
Thus may He keep thee.*

*I will not wish thee riches, or the glow
Of greatness, but that wheresoe'er thou go,
Some weary heart may gladden at thy smile;
Some weary life know sunshine for a while,
And so thy years shall leave a track of light,
Like angels' footsteps passing through the night.*

FUR IN KETTLES

Borax is excellent for removing fur from kettles. Dissolve a dessert-spoonful in a kettle of hot water, let it boil for a quarter of an hour when the fur will become loose.

ECONOMICAL RECIPES

A GOOD FRUIT CHUTNEY

Three lb. tomatoes, 3 lb. apples, 3 lb. red plums, 4 lb. white sugar, 1½ table-spoonfuls cloves, 1½ table-spoonfuls whole pepper, 1½ table-spoonfuls allspice, 1½ table-spoonfuls ground ginger, 7 table-spoonfuls rice, ½ table-spoonful cayenne, ¼ lb. stoned raisins, 2 quarts vinegar. Boil together until all ingredients are well blended, and color and consistency right. If preferred 3 lb. brown sugar and 1 lb. treacle may be used instead of 4 lb. white sugar.

BROWN SUET PUDDING

Here is a nice little pudding which, owing to the suet it contains, is one of the most nutritious meals you can give your young children—especially those who persistently refuse to eat fat: 1 lb. flour, ½ lb. fresh beef suet, ½ lb. treacle, ½ lb. raisins, a little salt, ½ grated nutmeg, 1 teaspoonful of cinnamon, soda, and cream of tartar, some milk. Warm the treacle and mix the chopped suet with the flour, add salt, soda, and cream of tartar; then the nutmeg and cinnamon. Stir all these well together, add treacle and raisins, and again mix well. Boil in a greased mould for three hours. With such a pudding, nothing more is needed for the little ones, except a sound juicy apple.

ORANGE BANANA SALAD

(Serves 6)

Three oranges, lettuce, two bananas, three table-spoonfuls lemon juice, walnut meats.
Peel oranges and cut into one-quarter inch slices. On lettuce-covered salad plate, place two orange slices. Cover with two lengthwise quarters of bananas, sprinkled with lemon juice. Top with slice of orange. Garnish with lemon mayonnaise and walnut meats.

IN A thrilling chapter in the Old Testament, that fiery visionary, Zechariah, proclaims daringly: "Yea, every pot in Jerusalem, and in Judah, shall be holiness unto the Lord of Hosts." Was he only portraying an ideal state of things, or had he in his mind the picture of a homely Judean housewife whose spotless crockery and shining kitchen spelled out to the most ignorant of her neighbors that she was a lover of the Lord? In the twentieth century it is as difficult as ever to visualize a good woman with fly-be-spotted cups, a dirty tablecloth, and a dusty mantelshelf! Her inward purity glorifies not only the soul, but the mundane, everyday things of life.

Her character is changed and beautiful. A sanctified woman sees the best in other folk, ignoring their faults, although they do not escape her notice. Her speech is a reflection of the inward sweetness which she possesses. Gossip is hushed at her approach, for idle chatter has no place in her scheme of things; she makes peace, not strife. Her gentle sympathy with toil-worn mothers at the Home League meetings, perhaps encourages them to speak of their little worries and troubles. Those perplexities which assumed immense proportions magically shrink to nothingness when viewed from her sane standpoint.

Like a magnet her personality draws the young folk in their teens who confide in her. She never laughs at their awkwardly-expressed views or tangled ideas, which she skilfully unravels, so that for them religion and life take on a new meaning. Girlish confidences are never divulged; and with all their mischief she loves the Young People's Bandlads — and they love her, too!

But look at the reverse of the shield. Constructive criticism properly handled, is perfectly legitimate, but the capacity for unkind and carping fault-finding must be destroyed in order that "this mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus."

To live a holy life is to act in perfect harmony with the will of God—Whatever soul-anguish the carrying out of this may mean. To accept unreservedly whatever the Master deems best for the perfecting of character, of spirit, and of the inward life.

"There is given to us," writes an old saint, "a gracious and tender sensitiveness—our Master can guide us by His eye. We hear His whispered will and gladly do it. We find in the Holy Spirit help and power to stand and wait upon the King in the busiest moment of our life, setting the aim in all things to this end, to please Him."

All is summed up in one beautiful line from our own Song Book:

Let Thy will in me be wrought.
In spite of past failures, and the most difficult of circumstances, even "amongst the pots," it is possible—try it!

"My Mother Encourages Me"

How Billy Was Trained in Initiative and Resourcefulness

BILLY was starting to build an airplane in his basement when Dick came in to play. Dick was his new next-door neighbor, who lived in a house much bigger and finer than Billy's.

"What are you doing?" asked Dick as he saw the interesting materials scattered about the floor.

"I'm making a model plane," Billy replied as he took his knife and began to whittle a piece of wood.

"Does your mother allow you to make so much litter in your basement?" asked Dick in surprise.

"Sure, if I clean it all up when I have finished," Billy replied, "I make lots of things that I play with, and sometimes when Mother is working in the kitchen I work there, too. I like to talk to her. Yesterday, when she was baking, I put a newspaper down on the floor and painted all my wooden soldiers."

Dick listened with a wistful expression for a moment.

"My mother says it's too much bother having me make things. I was building a scooter last spring out of old roller-skates and the boards from an empty box, and just as I had it almost done she gave it to the junkman because the basement was being cleaned. When I went home from school and found it gone I was discouraged. Then Mother gave me the money to buy a new scooter at the store, and I couldn't make her understand that wasn't what I wanted. I wanted the kind I could really build with my own tools, but she couldn't understand."

Billy now had his turn at looking surprised. "That's not the way my mother does; she always encourages me," he said proudly.

Billy's mother, who overheard the conversation, felt as proud and happy as her little son. The love and loyalty in his tone caused a great tugging at her heartstrings. Here was her reward for all the time and effort she had given and the inconvenience she had put up with in order to help Billy carry out his own little plans, to experiment and construct according to his own fancy.

Billy's training in initiative and resourcefulness dated back to his high-chair days. Before he could walk, if he sat on the floor and his ball rolled out of reach, his mother allowed him to crawl after it. When he began to build towers with his alphabet blocks, she did not take the job over and build him a twelve-block tower. Instead she built a neat little three-block structure and then went on about her work. Billy struggled until he also could build a three-block tower.

Later, when he tried to draw a cat, she did not take the pencil and say, "Let Mother draw it." Rather, she stood his toy cat before him, talked about his head and legs and nose and got him interested in looking at

it. By this means she encouraged him not only to draw but to observe.

So all through the years Billy had felt the influence of her indirect guidance, although he had never given expression to his appreciation.

FIGHTING THE "White Scourge" IN JAPAN

Imperial Gift Wing to William Booth Memorial Sanatorium in Tokyo Opened

OF ALL the ailments which afflict the people of Japan, none exacts greater toll of these naturally active and energetic islanders than tuberculosis.

Sixteen years ago the William Booth Memorial Sanatorium was opened with accommodation for fifty patients, and under the wise and efficient direction of a Salvationist-saint—the late Dr. Matsuda, who passed to his Reward in 1930—its capacity has been extended fourfold, until today it is one of the largest among such privately-operated institutions in Japan, in addition to which it is regarded by government and medical authorities as a model of its kind. Dr. Matsuda's successor, a lady doctor—Major Rin Iwasa—was his assistant at the Sanatorium for many years, and, together with a splendid group of doctors and nurses who support her the Emperor takes a keen personal interest in the work, and has recently manifested his great appreciation of The Army's efforts in this direction by a donation of 10,000 yen, which amount has been utilized for the erection of a comfortably-furnished new wing at the Sanatorium.

The Imperial Gift Wing—as it has been named—was officially opened recently with due ceremony and much rejoicing. Salvationists and distinguished friends assembled for the opening ceremony.

Following a statement from Commissioner Yamamuro as to the development of the Institution, Mr. Sekiya, Vice-Minister of the Imperial Household, read a brief message in which was expressed the hope that the workers of The Salvation Army will continue to make the Sanatorium an example for the present age in the care

Meiji Gakuin College, and Dr. Ijima who donated a set of X-ray apparatus, each addressed the gathering. A feature of unusual interest was the reading by the Territorial Commander of a few extracts from the "Patients' Testimony Book"—being a record of some of the experiences of a number of those who have been richly blessed while receiving attention at the Sanatorium.

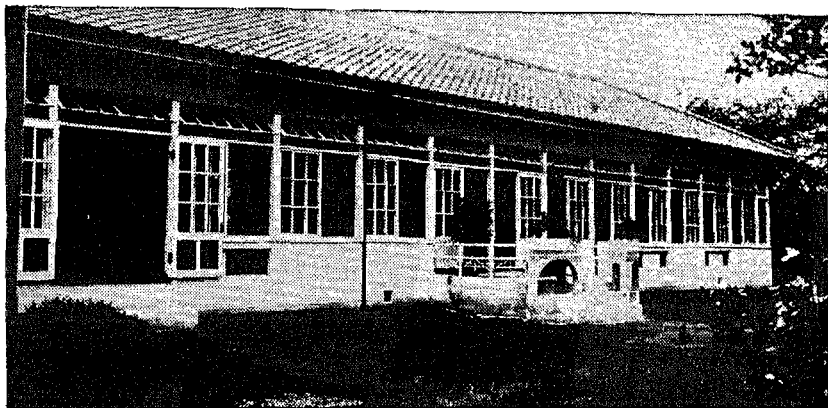

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests were given the opportunity of viewing the new wing, and alterations and improvements which had been undertaken simultaneously, and all conceded that these additional changes have greatly enhanced the Sanatorium, particularly in regard to extending its capacity from 170 to 200 beds, besides which the Colony Scheme—for convalescing patients—caters for another 30, making a grand total of 230.

This gesture on the part of the Emperor has been a great impetus to our Sanatorium Work. The total cost of the entire scheme, including the new wing, the alterations and additions is between 17,000 and 18,000 yen, but the timely announcement of a 5,000 yen donation from the Home Ministry has greatly eased the financial burden of the Sanatorium.

The X-ray apparatus, above referred to, has been duly installed, being valued at just over 3,000 yen, and this singularly suitable gift will be a distinct asset to the Sanatorium for both treatment and research purposes.

Thus in this particular phase of Salvation Army activity God is rewarding the devoted labors of those who have given their lives—and their love—that they may reveal to their fellows the love of Him who gave Himself for all. May continued blessing crown their efforts.—Chas. Davidson, Ensign.

"Like Cod Liver Oil and Soup" What they think of a Retired Indian Warrior at Travancore

COLONEL Yesu Dasen, Chief Secretary for Southern India, has just retired from active service. Converted from Hinduism in The Army's early days, he became an outstanding figure.

Well-known, much-beloved and appreciated by all, he was a tower of strength to his leaders—reliable, a man of vision, full of faith and the Holy Ghost. His life has made a great impression for good. Lieut.-Commissioner Mrs. Trounce has been conducting the Colonel's farewell tour. One Divisional Commander arranged for forty trees (cocoanut palms and pepper vines) to be dedicated, one for each year of the Colonel's active service. These trees were to be distributed for planting throughout the Division. The same idea was followed at other places.

It did the old comrades at these farewell meetings a world of good to refresh their memories with thoughts of the conditions out of which God had led them, and of where they are to-day. One old veteran, describing the old days of persecution said that when they went to the Colonel's Quarters when he was a young District Officer, he would greet them with a smile, comfort them with the promises of God and pat them on the back, and that his ministrations were like "Cod-liver oil and soup to a weak body!" He also told how Colonel Jivi (the Colonel's wife) would prepare food for them, and rest, and they would go back to their posts next morning strengthened and encouraged, to take further beatings if needs be.

Another Corps Officer, who worked for many years in close conjunction with the Colonel, described him, "in leadership like Moses, in administration like Joseph, and in wisdom like Solomon!"

A police inspector testified that he had known the Colonel since he was a boy, adding, "We outsiders regarded Colonel Yesu Dasen as the father of The Salvation Army in these parts of Travancore."

Major Nallathamby, of Southern India, while recently at Vallyoor, received sixty-four new people from Hinduism. At Vijayanarayanam he found the people had erected a very suitable building at their own cost, and his heart filled with gratitude to God when he saw men, women and children of this village, whom he had coveted and earnestly desired for God, all kneeling and worshipping the true God.

More Air Travel

Enables Army Leaders to Cover Thousands of Miles in Record Time — Free Passes Now Granted in Java

COMMISSIONER de Groot, Territorial Commander for the Dutch East Indies Territory with Headquarters at Bandoeng, Java, has to cover many miles each year in order to keep in touch with his Officers and Soldiers, spending a great deal of valuable time on long journeys. Thanks, however, to the kindness of an airways company, which granted him free passes, the Commissioner has recently been able to effect great economies in time by travelling by air on his visits to a number of Army centres in Java.

One of the Commissioner's journeys was to Buitenzorg, where, in his palace, the Governor-General granted him an interview which lasted nearly an hour, and in which The Army's work on behalf of unemployed Europeans was discussed. His Excellency, who is a warm friend of The Army, displayed great interest in its latest efforts to relieve the distress of "crisis casualties," and assured the Commissioner of his continued support.

The Army's most recent development in the Dutch East Indies on behalf of the unemployed is the opening, last month, of the new Home at Soerabaya. The Governor of East Java and the Mayor of the town were present, together with a number of other prominent people.

In connection with the Home, the assistance rendered by what is known as the "Support Committee," has been beyond The Army's highest expectations.

The work which is being done for the "crisis casualties" is enhancing the prestige of The Army throughout the islands. The Army is well before the public, and on all sides great satisfaction is felt because of the way in which it is endeavoring to relieve the distress of great numbers of people who have been severely affected by the general economic depression.

OFF TO THE EAST

COMMISSIONER HAY left Toronto on Tuesday for his Eastern Campaign, which, commencing at North Sydney, in Thursday, October 27th, will take him to many Corps in the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Divisions, the Campaign closing at Campbellton, on Monday, November 14th.

It will be seen that the Commissioner has a strenuous time before him. That he is able to embark on a tour of this magnitude immediately after the Congress, and so closely after his extensive Western Campaign, is a matter of profound gratitude.

Let us pray that continued strength be given our busy Territorial Leader for all the calls that will be made upon him.

THE GENERAL IN BIRMINGHAM

ACCEPTS THE LORD MAYOR'S INVITATION — CROWDED GATHERINGS AND 109 SEEKERS

AT THE invitation of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Birmingham (Alderman and Mrs. J. B. Burman) the General conducted a rousing Salvation campaign in that city. The General was the guest of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress during the week-end, and many prominent citizens attended the reception, which was held on a recent Saturday at the Council House.

During his cordial speech of welcome, in which he claimed that the General was an old friend of his, the Lord Mayor declared that he had never once appealed to The Army for help without receiving a ready response.

In the evening the General met over twelve hundred Salvationists, gathered in the Citadel from all parts of the Division. The Divisional Commander (Brigadier Spillett) expressed the hearty welcome, and a glorious meeting, vibrant with life and gladness, ensued. Many felt that they were not living up to the standard set for them, and when the opportunity was given responded to the urge of the Holy Spirit and came forward to the Mercy-seat.

Salvationists were early astir on Sunday making preparations for spending the day at the Grand Theatre.

Before 10.30 the Life-Saving Guards and Scouts were gathering at a central spot in the city; the sound of bugles and drums broke the quietness of the morning, and soon splendid Troops were smartly marching toward the meeting-place.

A big crowd gathered, and the singing was hearty. Expectation ran high, and the people were not disappointed. God used the General in a wonderful way to bless and enlighten, and a number of people knelt at the Mercy-seat to seek forgiveness. Holiness of heart and life, or to consecrate themselves for service.

Another crowd gathered in the Theatre in the afternoon, when the Lord Mayor, presiding over the meeting, was supported by a good number of Councillors, ministers, and business men of the city. All were bent on making the General feel that he was an honored guest in the city. After a happy speech of welcome by the Mayor, Colonel Pugmire took the platform, and for a few minutes carried the audience high on the tide of Salvation song. All enjoyed this melodious interlude. It prepared them for the General's vivid address in which he spoke of The Army's aims and activities in many communities throughout the world.

For the evening meeting the theatre was packed from floor to ceiling, and hundreds could not gain admission. The Band playing, congregational singing, and Colonel Pugmire's soulful soloing, all had their place, and the General's message gripped the mind and heart. Under the direction of the Holy Spirit he seemed to pour out his soul upon the people as he delivered the message. So profound was the silence of concentrated attention that at times the breathing of the vast congregation could almost be heard. Interest deepened into conviction, and soon earnest men and women were waiting for the invitation to surrender to Christ.

Without haste, sometimes in groups of two or three, men and women moved to the Mercy-seat, until, at the end of the prayer-meeting, there was rejoicing over sixty-eight seekers, making a total of 109 for the week-end.

The Officers wholeheartedly supporting the Divisional Commander were representative of all the sections of Army operations in the city.

Victorious Conclusion to Swedish Campaign

THE last centre to be visited by the General and Mrs. Higgins during their Swedish campaign, was Malmö, where they were enthusiastically received. A big crowd of Salvationists and friends gathered at the railway station, and after greetings were voiced by Brigadier David Karlson, the Divisional Commander, the Salvationists formed up and with happy music escorted the visitors to their guest-house in the city.

The day's program included three meetings, the first one in the beautiful Town Hall, at twelve noon, the second in the St. Paul Church, at 4 p.m., and the third at 8 p.m., in the Betlehemskyrkan. Long before the Town Hall meeting started, big crowds gathered, and at twelve o'clock every seat was occupied. Many representatives of various phases of life in Malmö, with the church ministers of the city, were there.

When the General and Mrs. Higgins entered they were greeted with much enthusiasm, and Doctor Otto Gröne spoke on behalf of the city authorities, expressing hearty thanks for The Army's work in Malmö. Appreciation was also tendered by the British Consul, Mr. H. Castleton, and Commissioner Rich voiced the warm feelings of the Salvationists. The General's description of Army endeavors around the world was followed with the keenest interest.

Two hours later another great crowd gathered in the St. Paul Church where the Dean of the Chapter, Professor Yngve Brilloth, spoke of the great contribution of The Army in the Christian service of love. Some of the city's most representative men were present at this gathering, in which the General made moving references to the beginnings of The Army's operations in Sweden.

The last meeting for the day, and of this triumphant Swedish campaign, was held in the Betlehemskyrkan. Field and Social Officers and large crowds of Salvationists from several places outside Malmö were present. The great Hall was packed from floor to ceiling. Intense Salvation enthusiasm prevailed.

Upon his arrival at International Headquarters, the General spoke in glowing terms of the Swedish Jubilee Campaign. He declared that it had far surpassed anything he had expected, and was a remarkable demonstration of what The Army in Sweden was capable of doing in the way of organizing and sharing a long series of celebrations. Every one, from Commissioner Rich, the Territorial Commander, and Mrs. Rich, down to the most recent convert, had thrown every power into the service of the great occasion, with the result that the Jubilee in Sweden had been observed with high honor to Christ, in whose name mighty victories had been won.

MRS. ADJUTANT COOPER Promoted to Glory

As we go to press word reaches us of the passing of Mrs. Adjutant Cooper in Toronto. Our comrade had been ill for many months, and had patiently endured her suffering, resting quietly in Jesus.

It will be recalled that the Chief of the Staff, who had known the promoted warrior for many years, visited her during the Congress days, his visit bringing much cheer.

Particulars of our glorified comrade's life and service will appear in a later issue.

"TILL WE MEET AGAIN"

God-Speed to the Chief of the Staff and Mrs. Mapp, Following the Congress

A NUMEROUS company of Headquarters Officers, assembled at the Union Station, Toronto, on Monday evening, to speed the Chief of the Staff and Mrs. Mapp on their way to New York, en route for International Headquarters, following the greatly-blessed happenings of the Golden Jubilee Congress.

With the Congress Leaders were Mrs. Major Laurie, their daughter, and Adjutant Ware, the Chief's faithful henchman. Other members of the Chief's family were also present.

A brief season of hand-shaking, and the exchange of mutual good wishes having ensued, both the Chief of the Staff and Mrs. Mapp taking the opportunity to have a word with each Officer on the platform, the Territorial Commander, with whom were Mrs. Hay and Colonel and Mrs. Dalziel, expressed once again the gratitude and affection of Salvationists throughout the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland and Alaska, and, while the other passengers looked on in wonderment, the Salvationists sang, pledging themselves to keep the colors flying "till we meet again."

Captain Bishop, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, desires to thank readers who so nobly responded to his appeal through "The War Cry," for books to start a Young People's Library. The venture is now progressing favorably.

A Toronto citizen traversed the length of the crowded street car to reach the side of a Territorial Headquarters Officer indulging in his early-morning strap-hanging exercises. "Say," he said in a whisper, "that was 'some' meeting in the Massey Hall on Sunday afternoon!" "Some" meeting was right!

We are happy to learn that Mrs. Ensign De Champ, of Campbellton, N.B., has now returned home after being in hospital for the past three months. Pray for her continued recovery.

Adjutant and Mrs. Drummond, of the Montreal Men's Social Department, are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter.

Brigadier William White, of Lytton Boys' Home, U.S.A., who has been spending a few days on furlough in Toronto, called at the Editorial den the other day. He is well known in Canada, having served here for many years.

BRAZIL COMMEMORATION

A recent issue of "O Brado de Guerra," The Army's official organ in Brazil, was devoted to the commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the commencement of Army work in that country. Special references were made to Colonel David Miche, the first Officer Commanding, and Mrs. Miche, who are now living in retirement in Switzerland, and Lieut. Colonel R. H. Steven, who, as the first General Secretary, assisted Colonel Miche in the pioneering work, and later succeeded him as Officer Commanding.

Police Chief and Juvenile Delinquents

Parents Blamed for Dangerous Criminal Trend in Children

A CALL and a CHALLENGE to ALL SALVATIONISTS

"HUNDREDS of children, denied the privileges of home life, without parental guidance and affection, and in many cases lacking proper nourishment, are prowling about the streets of St. John at night, constituting a menace to peace and safety and a troublesome social problem, it was revealed recently by Chief of Police E. M. Slader, who foresaw a dangerous criminal trend in an increasing number of juvenile theft cases.

"Available institutions for housing juvenile delinquents are filled to capacity," he said. "The list of minors engaged in criminal offences is increasing rapidly, and, excepting punishment for such offences, no solution of the problem has been found.

"We experience no difficulty in recovering stolen goods or apprehending the juvenile thieves," said Chief Slader. "The problem is, How are we to stop the growing wave of youngsters prowling like wolves about the streets of the city, pouncing down upon cars or stores, stealing anything they can lay their hands on?"

"The fault lies in the home. There is no question about it. Parents of a certain type have forgotten their duty of parenthood. They treat their children like animals, let them fend for themselves, live under appalling conditions, and so lay the foundation for development of a hardened criminal character."

The above is quoted from a Canadian Press Despatch which appeared the other day in the Toronto "Globe."

It is a disturbing condition of affairs. And St. John is not alone in facing such a serious problem. It is widespread, and constitutes a condition for which a solution must be found.

The Chief of Police is right in placing the blame on the parents. His outspoken indictment of many so-called guardians of the children is only too true. He is supported by all who are in a position to know.

A Judge in a Montreal court, the other day, stated: "Parents of children appearing before me in the Juvenile Court are in reality the guilty ones. It is the neglect of the children by parents that is to blame."

Words similar to these have been spoken by Magistrates in Toronto and other places on different occasions. They are the considered utterances of men who have had long experience in dealing with juvenile delinquents, and are fully conversant with the causes that so often lead the young into crime.

For years in this country and elsewhere there has been an epidemic of crime, in which the criminals, by a very great majority, are either in their teens or early twenties. Remedies innumerable for the situation have been proposed, apparently without accomplishing much good. Traced to its source, the evil has its beginning in the lack of moral training imparted to young people in their homes.

Men and women who are careful of everything else that appertains to their children, seem content to leave their moral and spiritual well-being to take care of itself. In many cases parents simply reap what they have sown when they see the gateway of a penitentiary close behind a son or daughter. The place to build a strong, moral character that will stand the test when the evil day of temptation comes, is in the home, and the time is when the mind is plastic and the heart susceptible to impressions. For this great work of character-building parents are primarily responsible.

Here is a problem which has to be faced. How can parents train their children into paths of righteousness unless they have knowledge of the way themselves? It would be a case of the blind leading the blind. Little use parents preaching without practising. Children look for example. How can irreligious parents hope to lead their children aright unless they themselves are marching ahead of them along the paths of moral uprightness, of spiritual experience?

What is The Army's task in this matter? To get hold of the parents, to seek to lead them into a knowledge of God. Not always an easy task, but The Army is tackling it, and is encouraged by the victories gained by means of its efforts on behalf of the Salvation of men, both in the streets and in its Halls.

But, in the meantime, what of the children whose parents have no time or thought for God, who, though they may keep the laws of the country, disregard the greatest and most important law of all—God's law? We must go after them. The many schemes and efforts which The Army has in action for the well-being of our youth are a cause of gratitude on the part of all who have any interest in the welfare of the young. But there is an enormous task to be done. A special effort must be made, more desperate measures must be taken, and to this end we refer our comrades to the Great Winter Effort which the Commissioner has announced, and which includes, as one of its three objects, The Salvation of Young People.

It is well to recall what our Territorial Leader said in his preliminary announcement of this great Winter Effort:

"We are begging for individual consideration of the conversion and consecration of Young People. Oh! if we could only get five thousand of our own growing lads and lassies, from thirteen to eighteen, to be definitely converted, or, if professing conversion, to come out boldly for Christ and The Army.

"The youths and maidens are twice as ready to embrace Christ as are their elders. I wonder are we just as ready correspondingly to exert ourselves—to offer our prayers, to join in our pleadings and persuasions, so as to win them to Christ and His glorious service?"

"I hope this Campaign will show hundreds of elders seeking the young, but I hope also we may see everywhere our fine young folk in tender-hearted, zealous, warm, appealing effort, seeking the conversion and consecration of their fellows."

The need of rescuing the young from the paths of error and of winning them for Christ presents a call and a challenge to every Salvationist, yea, to every professed follower of Christ.

How shall we answer?

GERMANY'S LEADER

About to Retire From Active Service

COMMISSIONER BRUNO FRIEDRICH, Territorial Commander for Germany, having reached the age of retirement from active service, the General has decided that he shall leave that Command during the first days of next January.

The Commissioner, who has been in charge of The Army in Germany for the past three years, has had a truly international career. Entering The Army's work from Winnipeg, Canada, in 1887, he served in various capacities in that Territory before proceeding to appointments in the United States, India, Australia, and China. The transfer from China to the command of Czecho-slovakia was typical of the great changes of scene and opportunity which the Commissioner has successfully encountered throughout his career. For many years he was connected with The Army's publications, his service in this direction including seven years as Editor of the Melbourne "War Cry." During The Army's pioneering days in China he did useful literary work.

The recent promotion to Glory of Mrs. Friedrich was a great loss to the Commissioner, adding to the burdens which were greatly increased by the critical period through which the people of Germany have been and are still passing. In spite of all this he has bravely led The Army, and the blessing of God has rested upon his work.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY

Conducts Sunday Campaign at North Toronto

THE Sunday after Congress is usually characterized by a rather "flat" feeling—that of coming down to the valley from the mountain top—but there were none of these signs of depression at North Toronto, when the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Dalziel were in charge of the meetings.

Attendances were excellent; there was plenty of hearty singing, interest was keen, and, best of all, the day closed with souls at the Mercy-seat.

Supported by Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Burrows, the Chief Secretary launched the Holiness meeting with a spirit of faith and expectation that increased throughout the day. The songs were well-chosen and helpful; Mrs. Dalziel's testimony was an inspiration to those seeking the Blessing of Holiness; and the lesson on the influence of thought, given by the Chief Secretary, was distinctly thought-provoking and of decided help to all.

The afternoon meeting was refreshingly different, when the Chief Secretary ably piloted through a service of song, presenting much interesting information on The Army's songs and their origin and inspired writers. Many old favorites were recalled and sung, and it was an eye-opener, especially to our Young People, to learn the history of well-known compositions.

Commissioner Richard Wilson Celebrates 74th Birthday

COMMISSIONER R. WILSON celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday by leading rousing Anniversary meetings in the Mashbury Corps.

The Commissioner, who has just returned from conducting Congress meetings in Czechoslovakia and Hungary, found special pleasure in meeting again the Territorial Commander, Lieut.-Commissioner Julius Nielsen, for Commissioner Wilson was in charge of The Army's work in Denmark when Lieut.-Commissioner Nielsen, over forty years ago, knelt at the Mercy-seat and afterward became an Officer, working under Commissioner Wilson's direction.

which the Chief Secretary took active part, preceded a hearty and prayerful Salvation meeting, and from the very start the Calvary song of the Songster Brigade, the appropriate selection by the Band, the singing and the Bible reading, as well as the Colonel's forceful address on the possibilities of possession of Christ, contributed to the results of the prayer-meeting.

The Colonel, despite a heavy day, led the van in sparing no effort to persuade souls to surrender, and it was by the exercise of much faith and prayer that seven souls were won. North Toronto, undoubtedly, received much impetus from the inspiring visit. The Corps Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Wood, gave splendid support.

Important Appointments

Affecting Training Garrison Staff

AT THE close of the Congress Councils, the Commissioner, with the approval of the Chief of the Staff, announced the farewell of Lieut.-Colonel F. Saunders from the Training Garrison, and that the General had appointed him to take command of the Training Garrison at Melbourne, Australia.

The Commissioner also intimated that the General had decided to appoint Lieut.-Colonel Bladin as Principal of the Training Garrison in Toronto.

We are sure that while hundreds of young Officers, who have had close personal touch with Lieut.-Colonel Saunders, will sorrow at his leaving the Dominion, they will cherish happy memories, and will constantly follow with their prayers and interest the work of their late Principal.

Lieut.-Colonel Bladin has already been assured of a very hearty welcome at the Training Garrison.

There is much cause for gratitude to God for the splendid spirit of German Salvationists. During his recent visit the General was greatly cheered by their faith and earnest prayer.

The next important event in Army circles in Germany is the Repentance Day meetings to be conducted in the Circus Busch, on November 16th, by the Chief of the Staff.

THE ARMY'S WORLD-WIDE DECLARATION

None But Christ Can Satisfy!

Below will be found Reports from various sources affirming the above

LEAPS AND BOUNDS

We are glad to report that the Home League at ARGYLE PARK, an Outpost of London III Corps (Adjutant and Mrs. Cornthwaite) is going ahead by leaps and bounds. Sister Pearl Rutherford is the able Home League Secretary and she, with the aid of Mrs. Adjutant Cornthwaite and the twenty members have been working energetically. As a result the first sale of work was a splendid success.

This was held on October 6th, and was opened by Mrs. Major Richardson and Adjutant M. Robinson. The Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Dix supplied the music. There was a large attendance and the proceeds amounted to the gratifying sum of $50, which will be used to renovate the Hall.

We now hold regularly a public meeting on Wednesday nights at the Outpost and credit is due to the faithful visitation done in the district.

REWARDED FAITH

A note of praise predominated in the Harvest Festival services at EDMONTON CITADEL (Adjutant Haynes, Captain Lesher, Lieutenant Thierstein). In the Holiness meeting the comrades eagerly testified to God's goodness and mercy, and Captain Lesher's address was thought-provoking. The afternoon meeting was of an high order, the lesson being taken by Corps Secretary Bat-trick. The Altar service at night was interesting and produced good results.

On Sunday, October 16th, our faith was rewarded when three adults and three junior seekers were seen to kneel at the Mercy-seat. These precious souls were born into the Kingdom of God. Hallelujah!—R.A.H.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

On a recent Sunday at SELKIRK (Captain May, Lieutenants Vawter and Brown) when we had as our leaders Brigadier and Mrs. Ritchie, a very pleasing incident took place. The Brigadier, on behalf of the comrades, presented to our highly-esteemed and much-beloved Sergeant-Major Moore a Song Book, on the occasion of his eightieth birthday.

Our comrade is a wonderful example of a clean godly life and is respected by all. He has scarcely a grey hair at his advanced age, can read without

OCTOGENARIAN DRUMMER

Sergeant-Major Moore, Selkirk, Man., is surely one of the most youthful octogenarians in The Army for, despite having passed his eightieth milestone, he can still wield the drumstick glasses and is most consistent in his duty toward God and The Army.

There were those in the meeting who remember the time, some thirty-five years ago, when our comrade first gave his testimony in the Open-air meetings. He has proved God's power to keep him since in spite of the difficulties and trials of the years between.

We were greatly blessed in our Harvest Festival meetings at WESTON, Winnipeg (Captain Patterson, Lieutenant Fitch) on Sunday. In the afternoon, we had our Rally Day meeting. At night we were glad to have Adjutant and Mrs. Newman to conduct the Salvation meeting when we enjoyed their messages.

On Wednesday night we held our Harvest Festival Sale which produced good results.—M.M.

Impressive Events in the "Gateway City"

A SERIES of "extraordinary meetings" have been inaugurated at WINNIPEG CITADEL (Adjutant and Mrs. Larman) and the Saturday night gatherings, for which the Young People's Corps is responsible, have been greatly encouraging.

Sunday morning the Young People were again to the front. Six Juniors sang a song and the Adjutant conducted a dedication. The afternoon meeting was well attended, when the Band essayed music from the latest Ordinary Journal Series, "The Happy Warrior," and Campsie Citadel" marches. The Adjutant gave a powerful address on "The Unpardonable Sin" at night.

On Rally Day afternoon a solemn service was held when the memory of our late comrade, Deputy-Bandmaster Will Carroll, was honored. The Band rendered his "Victor's Crown" march while the congregation stood in respect. Following this impressive exercise thirteen Junior Soldiers were enrolled, including our promoted comrade's two sons, Kenneth and Colin. Tender prayer was offered for the mother, Sister Mrs. Carroll.

An interesting incident of the prayer-

NEW SEEKERS ENROLLED

It was our pleasure to have with us at CALGARY II Staff-Captain and Mrs. Stewart, of the Men's Hostel, it being the farewell of our Corps Officers, Ensign and Mrs. Flannigan. Large crowds attended the meetings, and the presence of God was mightily felt.

In the Salvation meeting words of appreciation were ably spoken by Sergeant-Major Darts and Treasurer Horwood on behalf of the Corps and Ensign and Mrs. Flannigan suitably replied. Two comrades were enrolled under the Flag and Staff-Captain Stewart closed with an inspiring address.—C.W.

PROMISE FULFILLED

On Sunday at PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE (Ensign and Mrs. Nyrerod) we had our Harvest Festival meetings. The Hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with a fine showing of produce. The meetings were conducted by our own Corps Officers. The theme, of the Holiness meeting was the "Resurrected Life," showing us that we must first be dead with Christ before we can be alive with Him.

Brother Shergold spoke in the evening on "Thanksgiving," reminding us of God's goodness to us all in the fulfillment of His promise that "seedtime and harvest shall not cease." The evidence was before our eyes! On the Tuesday night we held our sale of produce.—F.

meeting at night was when a man testified to having found Christ on his way to the meeting after forty years of groping in the dark. He made his confession of Christ as he knelt with three seekers at the Penitent-form.

The Annual Community Thanksgiving Service, held in the Isaac Brook School, was presided over by Adjutant Larman, the spacious building being crowded to its capacity. The St. James Band, led by Captain Buckley, accompanied the congregational singing and also rendered selections.

A number of ministers took part in the gatherings and the address of the morning was given by the Rev. C. Despard, of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Adjutant Larman closed the gathering with prayer.

Band Color-Sergeant James Merritt celebrated his seventieth birthday by sprightly stepping out at the head of the Band, afterwards giving a stirring testimony in the Open-air ring. Our veteran comrade is the father of the famous Merritt family of Army musicians and was converted fifty-one years ago.

IN REVIVAL STYLE

We have had a good week-end at NEW WESTMINSTER (Adjutant and Mrs. Waterston) with Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. McLean (R), leading on in revival style. It is about five years since we had these enthusiastic leaders in our Corps, and everyone was delighted to see and hear them.

In the Holiness meeting the Colonel stressed the importance of the blessing of Sanctification, and inspiring results followed later in the day.

During the Company meeting seven children gave their hearts to Jesus. This was followed by a rousing praise-meeting, with plenty of singing and music.

At night the Soldiers turned out in full force for the Open-air and Salvation meeting. Adjutant Bloss, from Vancouver, was with us to assist in the meeting, and after a soul-stirring message from the Colonel, six young people offered themselves afresh to God on the altar of Consecration. We pray God's blessing on these young hearts and are looking forward to seeing them do greater service for the Master.—Lindy.

The meetings at ORILLIA (Adjutant and Mrs. Alderman) during the absence of our Officers at Congress, were conducted by our Corps Sergeant-Major and Locals. "On Saturday night one backslider came to the Cross for Salvation.—W.W.

Stirring Band and Songster Week-End

A HEARTY reception was given Envoy George Dinsdale, M.L.A., on his visit to REGINA CITADEL (Ensign Bamsey, Lieutenant Honeychurch) during the recent Band week-end. The visitor was entertained at supper by the Band and Songsters on Saturday evening, following which a musical program was rendered in the Citadel.

The meetings on Sunday, conducted by the Envoy, were full of interest and blessing. Our visitors' addresses were most helpful and his singing of old-fashioned solos much enjoyed.

In the afternoon the Envoy gave his famous lecture "Herdsmen to Parliamentarian," this being presided over by the Hon. M. A. McPherson, Provincial Treasurer, who made an ideal chairman. He was supported by Alderman McRae and Mr. Galloway, good friends of the Army in Regina.

During the afternoon excellent selections were given by the Band, under Bandmaster Hahkirk, and the Songster Brigade, led by Songster-Leader Vincent.

A number of Bandsmen took part in the Salvation meeting, the Male Voice

Party also contributing items. The Envoy delivered a powerful address, followed by a hard-fought prayer-meeting. After a great struggle we had the joy of seeing a man come to the Mercy-seat. The day finished up with a Hallelujah march around the Citadel.

On Monday evening the Band united with the Songster Brigade, String Band, and Young People's Singing Company in a splendid supper prepared by the women-comrades. Ensign Bamsey, Captain Halsey and a number of comrades gave helpful talks. Honorary Bandmaster Henderson, who has played in Army Bands for forty-six years, also had a few words.

The week-end was brought to a splendid conclusion by a Musical Festival in the Citadel, presided over by our visitor, and during which all our musical combinations took a prominent part.

Our Band is broadcasting a service every other Sunday afternoon, commencing October 2nd, over CHWC from five to six p.m. during the winter months.—W.G.W.

CONGRESS BLESSINGS

A couple of weeks back at WEST TORONTO (Adjutant and Mrs. Waters) our Officer several times urged the comrades to pray for the Congress, and later felt led to devote a whole meeting to prayer for the Jubilee Celebrations.

Congress came and went, and it is now a matter of history how abundantly God blessed the gatherings. So richly did our people share in the memorable events that when the Corps gathered for the week-end, testimonies came from many comrades as to the special blessings received, and of the increased urge felt in the direction of extra efforts in the Salvation War.

Sunday's meetings were exceptionally blessed. In the evening meeting an unmistakable sense of the presence of God was manifested. Brigadier Hawkins, having dropped the baton, assisted the Adjutant by taking a considerable share of the prayer-meeting, and before the close eight seekers had knelt at the Mercy-seat. To God be all the glory!

WELCOME VISITORS

A recent Sunday evening meeting at ROSETOWN (Captain Danchuck) was the farewell meeting for Lieutenant Bingham who had been with us for seven months. The following week-end we had with us Sister Mrs. Moon and Corps Cadet Bertha Moon from Saskatoon Citadel, and their visit proved a great blessing. The Corps Cadet gave us a number of items on her guitar and mouth-organ combined. We were also blessed by the testimonies of Mrs. Moon.

Our attendances are increasing, and we are praying and believing for greater things in Rosetown.—B.C.

* GRATIFYING RESULTS

At INDIAN HEAD, Sask. (Captain Bishop) a large crowd spent a profitable hour on Rally Day, when the Young People took prominent part in a service of songs, entitled "God's Precious Word."

On Harvest Festival Sunday the Hall was suitably decorated and God blessed us with a bountiful display of the fruits of the ground. On Monday the local auctioneer, Mr. F. Blare, very ably disposed of the gifts which realized gratifying results.

It has been a source of joy lately to see some of our comrades re-consecrating their lives for service to the Master.—"Silm."

SICK MAN'S REQUEST

We were blessed recently at SOUTH VANCOUVER (Adjutant and Mrs. Whitfield, by a visit from Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. MacLean (R), who led us on throughout the day in soul-inspiring meetings. In the afternoon the Young People were delighted to listen to the Colonel's interesting address.

Our Harvest Festival services were conducted by Major and Mrs. Dalziel, our Divisional Leaders. Their messages were enjoyed by all. The Hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and filled to capacity by a receptive audience.

Our Band is a small combination but we are pleased to report that it is being used by God as a blessing in the community. A citizen who is very ill recently requested the Band to come to play outside his residence.—A.E.S.

JOY OVER SEEKERS

During the week at FORT ROUGE, Winnipeg (Captain Jackson, Lieutenant DeWitt) we had the joy of seeing four comrades seek the Blessing of a Clean Heart.

On Sunday we observed Decision Sunday. The opening exercises were led by Assistant Young People's Sergeant-Major Violet Nash. Color-Sergeant Bowley, of Swift Current, was a welcome visitor to the Company meeting. The Captain spoke briefly, and following the invitation, eight young people gave their hearts to God.

IN THE SPIRIT

During all the twenty or more years we have been in regular attendance at the Holiness meetings at VANCOUVER CITADEL (Major and Mrs. Gillingham) we can scarcely remember one that was not helpful. The meeting last Sunday, however, was particularly so.

Major Gillingham, who took the lead, launched the chorus, "Oh, what a Hiding-Place!" which served to bring us right into the spirit of liberty. The Scriptures were read by Mrs. Gillingham and the testimonies, led by Adjutant Houghton, were full of faith for the future. The Band and Songsters rendered exceptionally appropriate selections, and Mrs. Gillingham's address delivered with no uncertain sound, gave us the assurance that the foundation of God remaineth sure.—G.A.

CORPS CORRESPONDENTS

The congested state of our Corps Report sections since the uniting of the Territories make it more than ever imperative that correspondents observe the following rules. The hearty co-operation of these comrades will be appreciated.

1.—Head all Corps Reports with the name of Corps and Officers in charge, plainly written and correctly spelt.

2.—Whether reports are typewritten or handwritten, allow wide margin at side of sheet and plenty of space between lines for editing.

3.—State salient points of meeting only, unless same is of outstanding interest. We cannot undertake to publish entire programs and names of all those taking part. We are however, always glad to receive interesting incidents of the War, apart from ordinary meetings, such as in visitation, "War Cry" selling, or special campaign activities.

4.—Subjects of photographs and snapshots should be plainly indicated on the back. If required to be returned, add full address.

5.—Care should be taken to see that correct amount of postage is placed on envelopes. Many envelopes received by us are under-stamped.

HOT FROM THE PRINTER Band Journals 1,049—1,052

The new Ordinary Series Journal—Nos. 1,049 to 1,052—has just arrived from London.

It contains two marches, "The Central States," by Bandmaster Emil Soderstrom, of Chicago, known as

A Policeman's Memory: Why He Stopped to Listen to the Band

I SAW a policeman stop on his beat only the other Sunday morning, and I know why. An Army Band was playing "A charge to keep I have," to "Southport." You say: "What has that to do with the policeman?"

I noticed that he kept well in front of the Band as it marched to the Hall. The Bandmaster chose "Nearer, my God, to Thee"; from what I know of the constable he must have played it scores of times on Sunday mornings whilst serving God in The Army.

Again the Band played, and this time it was "Euphony." I venture to say that no ex-Bandsman of The Army could hear "Euphony" played on a Sunday morning without being moved.

Anyhow, whilst I did not have a chance to speak a word with "the man in blue," I believe that God spoke through the playing of the Band on this particular morning.

Bandsman-comrade, we never know who is listening and what effect our playing is having, therefore let us do our best every time we turn out, and put our souls into our work.—J.D.

PRACTICE ROOM PRECEPTS

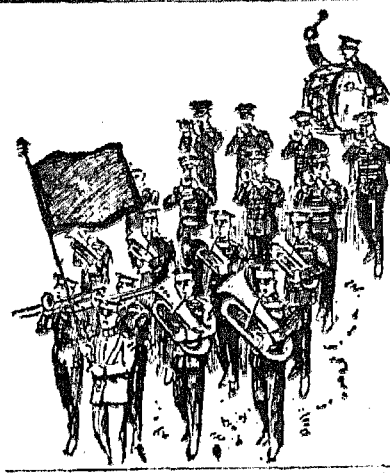

1. Commence to time.
2. For a lip-opener, try a hymn-tune.
3. Don't permit idle chatter among the men. Rehearsal is a serious business.
4. Insist that the second-part men deliver their parts with as much confidence as the soloists.
5. Spend time in explaining the piece being rehearsed.

dresses, and we believe much good was the outcome.

We have recently welcomed Bandsman Geo. Ursaki, from Ottawa, who takes up flugel horn, also Bandsmen Carver, Sr., and A. C. Mann, from London III, who take up second horn and solo horn respectively.

The Band is making excellent progress under the leadership of Bandmaster Hugh MacGregor.—A.C.M.

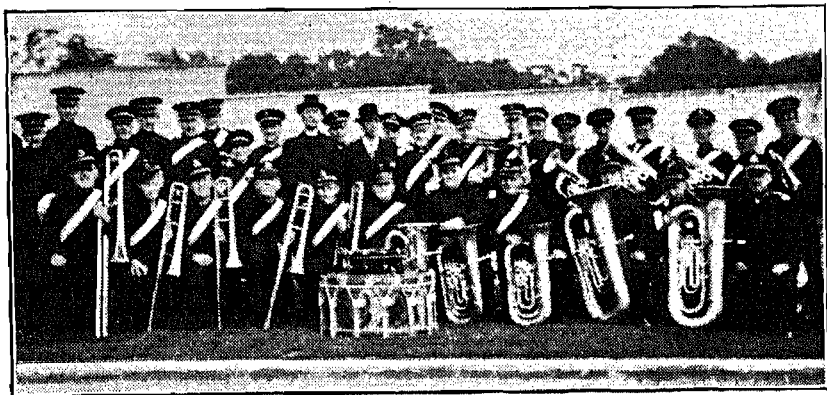

A THRIVING INFANT St. Thomas Young People's Band in Toronto

St. Thomas Young People's Band is the "Baby" Band of the Territory. You would hardly have thought so from its performance during the Congress Young People's Demonstration. There are already twenty-five members, all but four being under twelve years of age, the youngest player, who manipulates the triangle, being but six.

The Band, which is under the leadership of Band-Leader Homewood, proves of helpful service in the home city, being on hand in the morning Directory Class, and, of course, at the Company meeting and also in the Senior afternoon service. This is not all, for the Bandlads hold their own Open-air at night, where their playing proves quite an attraction.

During the Band's visit to Toronto, for the Congress, a visit was paid to the Red Cross Hostel at 9.20 Sunday morning, and the Band held an Open-air in downtown Toronto prior to the afternoon meeting.

Naturally Major McLean and Adjutant Hayward, the Corps Officers, are very proud of these enthusiastic young musicians. May they grow up to be real Blood-and-Fire Salvationists, fully maintaining the traditions of Army music, and winning many souls for God.

Riverdale Band (Bandmaster Steele) during its recent week-end visit to Kingston, visited the Penitentiary and played there for two hours. Here is the Band inside the prison walls, with Chaplain M. Smith and Acting-Warden Gilbert Smith the writer of the Prize March, "Fighting for the Lord," and the "The Limehouse March," by Ensign S. R. Hubbard.

The first-named march possesses idiom essentially "Soderstromian," and a number of musical features and surprises add interest to a tuneful composition which should gain much favor.

The other march is much better than its name. The writer was Bandmaster of Limehouse before becoming an Officer, and the tune incorporated, "We shall win," was written by the late Staff-Captain Hodgson, while in command of this Corps in 1880. Hence the title. "Rescue the perishing," makes a very useful trio.

There is also a selection, "Our Glorious King," by Staff-Captain Jakeway. The music is stirring and praiseful in character. The songs used include "Hail to the King," "Our Glorious King," and "Praise, my soul, the King" ("Triumph").

The remaining number is a cornet duet, "Deliverance," by Bandmaster P. Catelinet. This is somewhat of a novelty in Army Band music. The players will need to be well-matched in skill to do justice to this interesting number.

Altogether the new Journal looks to be a promising number.

BUSY LONDONERS Pay Visit to Windsor

London I Band recently paid a visit to Windsor, and a time of great blessing was experienced. Both Bands sat down to a welcome supper, tastefully arranged by the Sisters of the Corps.

Bandmaster MacGregor, during the supper, was asked to pull a cord, and this unveiled a large motto, worked in yellow, red and blue, bearing the words, "Welcome, London Band!"

During the week-end the Band worked very hard, presenting three heavy programs and conducting many open-airs.

The Octette Party played an important part during the week-end, singing a large number of pieces. Sunday morning they visited Grace Hospital, where their singing was made of blessing.

Our new Corps Officer was with us and gave two very helpful addresses. (Continued on column 3)

Listen! Only two persons know the secret—the policeman and I. He was once an Army Bandsman, and had even obeyed the call for Officership. He and I were in the Training Garrison together, but, sad to relate, after only a short period of service he went back on his vows.

I could not help wondering what were the thoughts that must have surged through his mind as we played and sang the last verse:

*Help me to watch and pray,
And on Thyself rely.*

God Bless Canada's Musical Trail-Blazers

The introduction of the Veterans' Band during the Congress Festival was a happy idea. When the Band marched into the Arena, playing an old Army war-song, a thrill swept through the entire assembly. Here were men who had helped to blaze the trail for Army Bands, men who were as conversant with Journal No. 359, "The Bells' Refrain," as with the "latest," which in these days is just above 1,050.

The Veterans' Band was composed, of course, of men from Bands in Toronto. Each member had to his credit at least thirty years' service. One member, Bandsman Richard Arnold, of Riverdale, has the long record of forty-nine years' Bandsmanhood behind him. The total years of service of the men comprising the group, reaches above the 1,000 mark. Who knows the number of miles these veterans must have marched during their long years of toil, or the hours spent in Army service, or the number of pieces they have played, the number of bars, or notes?

Beyond computation; still the figures would make interesting reading.

All praise to them and to the veteran Army Bandsmen all over the Territory, whom they represented on this occasion. May they live to double their records of service. Wind instrument playing is a healthy exercise, so may we not hope that these musical veterans may still be marching before the drum when Journal No. 2,000 arrives!

Anyway; all hail the veterans, and God bless them!

Boys of the Old Brigade! Many well-known faces will be seen in this "Veterans' Band," which played at the Congress Festival, including those of Colonel Attwell and Major Beer. Hon.-Bandmaster Richards, of West Toronto, who had charge of the aggregation, is seen in the centre of the group

SISTER MRS. DOBSON, Metlakatla, Alaska

The Death Angel has again visited Metlakatla, Alaska, Corps, and taken from our midst Penitent-form-Sergeant Mrs. Dobson, wife of Bandmaster Joshua Dobson.

Captain Atkinson conducted the funeral service, which carried a real note of triumph in true Army fashion. The comrades marched to the home of the Bandmaster, singing "There's a shout in the camp, Hallelujah!" and a short service was held outside the home. Following the march to the Hall, and after the opening song, Mayor Marchison, who was present, and the Corps Treasurer spoke encouraging words to the bereaved. Envoy Mrs. Milne soloed, and Envoy Milne read the Scripture lesson. Captain Atkinson spoke on the life of our promoted Sister.

A large crowd attended the service at the graveside, where choruses were sung, and Captain Atkinson performed the last rites. We will miss our comrade, but have the joy of knowing that all was well with her soul.—M.M.

Mrs. Adjutant Baird Answers the Call

Mrs. Adjutant Baird, a woman warrior who saw much strenuous service in The Army's earlier days in Canada, answered the Call to Higher Service on the eve of the Jubilee Congress.

Our comrade entered the Training Home from Kingston, in 1895, and was married to Adjutant John Baird in 1906. It was an ideal union, and the two enthusiastic young Salvationists became of remarkable influence and power in the many Corps they commanded in various parts of the Dominion.

They were all on fire for the Salvation of the people, real firebrands who went about stirring up the people and urging men and women to flee from the wrath to come. Mrs. Baird herself was a great singer, her singing proving of great effect on the hearts of the hearers.

The Adjutant was promoted to Glory in 1911, and later in that year

Mrs. Baird was transferred to the U.S.A., where she labored for two years before returning to Canada.

Latterly the promoted warrior has been more or less an invalid, but she has followed the fortunes of her comrades with unquenched interest, and ever remained faithful through affliction.

The funeral was conducted at Lisgar Street, Toronto, on Thursday, by Adjutant McElhiney, an old comrade, and among the speakers were many other Officers who knew and fought beside the departed Officer during the early days; among them being Lieut.-Colonel Sims, Brigadier W. White, of California, an old Canadian Officer, who happened to be in Toronto on furlough. Many tributes were paid to Mrs. Baird's faithfulness, and her valiant fighting in the days of her health and vigor.

A report of the memorial service appears on the Corps Report page.

ENVOY GASCOIGNE, Regina Citadel

After a long and severe illness, the Death Angel has taken Envoy Wm. Gascoigne, a well-known and highly-respected comrade of Regina Citadel Corps.

Envoy Gascoigne,
Regina

For over twenty years our promoted comrade had been a valiant and hard-working Local Officer, having held many positions in the Corps. Many Bandsmen also owe much to the interest which he had taken in them. He came of early-day Army stock, and had worked as a member of the Founder's staff. For many years he had, as an Officer in the Old Land, successfully commanded a number of Corps, and carried on his body scars received in the street riots of long ago. He had also been a member of the famous Household Troops Band.

The funeral service, held in the Citadel, was filled with comrades and friends, Ensign Bamsey, the Corps Officer, being in charge. A number of comrades took part by paying tribute to the late Envoy's memory, and Mrs. Major Merritt read the Scripture portion. Adjutant McCaughey related his visits to the bedside of our comrade, when he was sick, and how he had testified to the presence of Christ. The Band played "Promoted to Glory," and Lieutenant Honeychurch soloed "Only Remembered."

The march to the cemetery, with the full Band in attendance, was most impressive, and large crowds lined the streets. Ensign Bamsey conducted the service at the graveside.

An impressive memorial service was held on Sunday evening, when Honorary Bandmaster Henderson and Sister Mrs. Robson spoke in memory of our late comrade. The Band and Songsters rendered appropriate selections, and Adjutant McCaughey gave the Bible address. During the prayer-meeting, one seeker came to the Mercy-seat.—W.J.W.

BROTHER DEDAN DUKE, St. Stephen

The Call has come to Brother Dedan Duke, of St. Stephen's Corps. Our comrade was born at Gadwick, Surrey, England, and came to St. Stephen twenty years ago. He was enrolled as a Soldier at Cornwall, Ont., the Corps Officers at that time being Adjutant and Mrs. I. Jones. Two years ago he came back to St. Stephen, and his smile and patience, in spite of ill-health, were a means of blessing to all who knew him.

The funeral and committal services were conducted by Commandant and Mrs. Sanford, when a large number of comrades and friends were in attendance. Brother Duke leaves behind him a sure testimony that all was well, and that he was fully prepared to meet his God.—T.D.

for Christ.

As a Local Officer, the Envoy held many positions, including Manager of the Social Farm, Little York, and Sergeant-Major of the Temple Corps, in Toronto. On taking up a home-stand, near Regina, in 1900, he gave splendid service to the Corps, and this increased when he, with his wife and family, moved into the city eight years later.

PAST AND PRESENT

Zealand and Great Britain, were rendered, the program opening with a Festival March, "Bless our Army" (Major Broughton), an appropriate first number, indeed, and the dash of brilliance with which the Band played this march, under the baton of its Instructor, Staff-Captain Bramwell Coles, strengthened our conviction that we were in for a rare treat.

This fine program was of a distinctly varied character, and strikingly revealed the Band's capacities and versatility. Furthermore, whether during the rendering of selections such as "Memories," a descriptive march, "The Salvation Army Patrol," "Good Old Army," by the Band's worthy Instructor, or one of the latest Journals — a Meditation, "Hallelujah to the Lamb," one was conscious all the time of a marked finish, which in itself alone was a notable tribute to Instructor and Band alike, and spoke volumes for the consistent work and attention to detail in the practice-room.

Another evidence of the Band's splendid form was its fine response to the baton of the Chief Secretary, who conducted a selection representative of Army music published ten years ago—"Conquering Faith."

The individual items were essentially "Army," instrumental solos by Lieutenants Everitt and Yarlett, Bandsmen Irwin and Peake, revealed the fact that included in the Band's personnel, are soloists of no mean order.

Greetings to Congress visitors present were voiced by the Corps Officer, Adjutant Fred Mundy, who thanked the Chief Secretary for presiding. Appreciated additional items—by special request—included a concertina duet by the Colonel and his brother, Major Dalziel, and a concertina and cornet duet by Major J. Merritt and his Bandsman son, James.

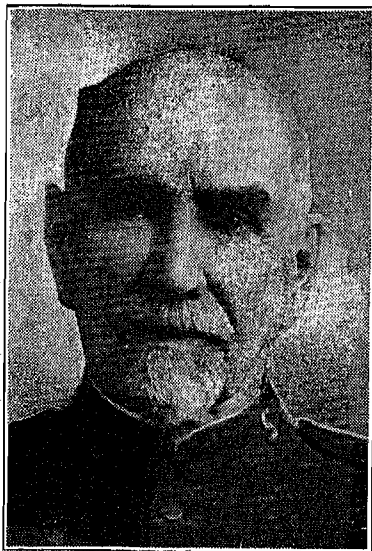

The Chief Secretary's timely references added their quota to the success of this very enjoyable and equally profitable evening, the spiritual value of which was enhanced by the Band's part songs, "My soul is now united," and "Nothing but Thy Blood"—especially by the singing of the latter—an imperishable song by the "Father of Army Music," Lieut.-Colonel Slater (R), which preceded a Bible reading by Adjutant Ware, of I.H.Q.—H. G. Carter, Brigadier.

ENVOY T. K. PEACOCK, Regina

Word has been received that Envoy Peacock, of Regina, father of Lieut.-Colonel Peacock, Divisional Commander for the Montreal Division, has been called Home, at the age of eighty-four years.

Our comrade was an outstanding Salvationist, and during his long life, had accomplished magnificent service for God and The Army.

On receipt of the news of the veteran warrior's passing, the Commissioner despatched the following message to the Colonel, who was with his father when he passed away.

Envoy T. K. Peacock

"We honor the devotion and service of Envoy Peacock, and believe his name and fragrant influence will long remain. Deepest sympathy with Mrs. Peacock and members of the family."

Envoy Peacock was born of pioneer settler parents, on a farm in Simcoe County, Ont., and was early in life identified with Christian service. He had begun, however, to be somewhat indifferent to spiritual things, when he attended a meeting, conducted by The Army, in Barrie. He was seized with conviction, and gave himself afresh to God. The meeting was conducted by Staff-Captain James Madden, uncle of Mrs. Colonel Coombs (R), who, during his stay, saw practically the whole town at The Army Penitent-form, thousands of people being won for God in a great revival, which swept the countryside.

BROTHER CHARLES LEET, Greenwood Corps

On Wednesday, October 8th, Brother Charles Leet was called from his place in the Greenwood Corps, Toronto, to the ranks of the Redeemed Host above. Converted during the early days of The Army, in Mount Albert, Ont., he was there enrolled as a Soldier. Owing to changes of residence he Soldiered successively at East Toronto, Rhodes Avenue and Danforth Corps, transferring to Greenwood over seven years ago at its opening, and his name being the first on our Roll.

Although advanced in age, and failing in strength, "Dad" was a regular attendant at the meetings. He was ever ready to witness for the Master and to plead in prayer for the Salvation of souls. His friendly hand-clasp and kindly interest in his comrades will long be remembered.

The funeral service was conducted by Major Parsons (R) on Saturday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Foden. Among those who took part were Brigadier Byers (R), Major Mrs. MacGillivray (R), Captain Royle and Brother Gosse. A large crowd gathered, and our comrade's favorite song, "Sweet hour of prayer," was sung, and his favorite passage of Scripture, "The Shepherd Psalm," was read. The funeral procession wended its way past The Army Hall, where he had so often joined with us in singing God's praises, and his body was laid to rest until the Morning breaks.

The following day a memorial service was held in the evening, conducted by Brigadier Byers (R), at which many relatives and friends assembled. It was most touching to see the vacant chair draped with The Army Flag, in remembrance of our comrade's loyal Salvationism and faithful service. Many paid tribute to his devoted life. Amongst his last words, while lying in the hospital, following the accident which caused his death, were these: "Tell the nurse I do not need her; I have Jesus, and He is all I need." Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved.—F.E.M.

The Envoy's soul was fired by the scenes which he witnessed, and he threw in his lot with The Army, becoming one of the first Soldiers of Stroud, a small village of a hundred inhabitants, eighty of whom were Salvation Army Soldiers! Our comrade never outwore those stirring early days, and he maintained a fiery testimony and burning zeal for souls, which enabled him to win hundreds of souls

A STRIKING CONTRAST What a Diary Revealed

NOT long ago there died, at the age of seventy-three, a man who began a diary at the age of eighteen and continued to keep it for fifty-two years. His life was not consecrated to a high ideal. In the book he left he states that in the fifty-two years he had smoked 628,715 cigars, of which he had received 43,692 as presents, while for the remaining 585,692 he had paid a large sum of money.

In fifty-two years, according to his book-keeping, he had drunk 28,786 glasses of beer and 28,085 glasses of other alcoholic liquors. The diary closes: "I have tried all things, I have seen many, I have accomplished nothing."

A striking contrast between this testimony and that of Paul, who wrote, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing."

What sort of diary are we writing each day? May the grand words of the great Apostle be ours, too!

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST Kindliness and Hospitality are Virtues That Bring Their Own Reward as the Following Story Shows

A GREAT Russian emperor used to go among his people in disguise to test their real character. One night he wandered from door to door in a wintry storm on the streets of Moscow as a tramp, and begged for shelter and food, only to find himself repulsed with harsh neglect. At last he found one open door, and the humble peasant welcomed him, offered him a pallet of straw, a crust of bread, and a cup of water and a heartfelt welcome, but added: "I can give you nothing more, for my wife is sick, and my attention must be given to her."

The emperor slept on that pallet of straw with the joy of knowing that he had found a man, and at dawn he took his leave with many thanks for the humble hospitality of his hosts. That afternoon a royal cavalcade swept up to that door, and as the peasant hurried to the narrow street, the emperor was standing before him with all his retinue. The man fell on his face in terror and asked what he had done to bring such a visitation.

The emperor raised him up and said: "Nothing, my good man, but entertain your emperor. It was I that slept on that pallet of straw and enjoyed your hospitality. You thought I was a tramp, but it was your emperor you entertained, and he has come to reward you. Take this bag of gold for the wants of your wife and home, and if you ever need a friend, call on the poor tramp that slept in that corner last night."

They Laughed at Him, But— He KEPT RIGHT ON!

Don't Let a Grimace Side-track You From Doing the Right Thing

TO BE LAUGHED AT is an experience that none of us likes, and it is not to be doubted that ridicule on the part of one's friends, or enemies, does more to discourage one from undertaking a project than persecution. Many a man who has borne up under open enmity and brick-bat throwing, has given way when his efforts have been made the subject of ironical laughter.

It would seem that it takes more courage to stand up under a fire of ridicule than in the fires of persecution. But many a brave pioneer has lived to reverse the laugh, and on the other hand, numbers have lost immeasurably because they allowed the smile of scorn to win the day.

The Tell-Tale Tongue

*YOU may keep your feet from slipping
And your hands from evil deeds,
But to guard your tongue from tripping,
What unceasing care it needs!
Be you old or be you young,
Oh, beware,
Take good care
Of the tittle-tattle, tell-tale tongue!*

*You may feel inclined to quarrel
With the doctrines that I preach,
But the soundness of the moral
Sad experience will teach;
Be it said, or be it sung,
Everywhere,
Oh, beware,
Of the tittle-tattle, tell-tale tongue!*

West, and thus circumnavigate the globe. The King of Portugal saw that the scheme might make his country the greatest of all nations, and he agreed to the expedition being undertaken. But the king's counsellors showed him that he would be thought crazy to encourage such a venture—and Columbus was sent away.

Queen Isabella of Spain, however, refused to be prejudiced when her wise advisers laughed at Columbus and, as a result, after selling her jewels to provide equipment for the expedition, the Continent of America was discovered. Spain became one of the richest countries, and Portugal lost its power.

COMING nearer home, a Canadian college professor in the United States invented a device for making sound travel along a wire. He tramped long weary miles trying to interest business men in his invention, but most of them laughed at him for his pains. How ridiculous it was to suppose that the human voice could travel along a wire! Alexander Graham Bell's telephone became a fact and a world-wide success, but many a man lost fame and fortune by reason of the laugh of scorn.

Instances could be piled up of persons who have lost wealth through a laugh. We could also say that many a man or woman has lost spiritual riches through listening to the "laughter of fools," as Solomon puts it, rather than giving heed to the voice of God within their souls.

WILLIAM BOOTH, The Army's Founder, is one of the most outstanding examples of men who won success despite the ridicule poured upon his early efforts to capture men and women for God. Persecution or (Continued at foot of column 4)

OUR OPEN FORUM

A column on this page will be open for the presentation and discussion of matters that have a bearing on the life of young people. Questions may be asked; personal problems dealt with; the story of conversion given; a written testimony or the account of an adventure in Christian warfare—in fact, letters will be welcomed concerning the hundred and one things that have to do with the youth of to-day. We invite the young folk in their teens and early twenties to write, care of the Editor, "The War Cry" (Open Forum), 20 Albert Street, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Editor:

I have been converted some little time and am endeavoring to do my little bit for the Master faithfully and well. My health, however, is not of the best, and at times I am apt to become discouraged because I cannot seem to do as much as many of my other comrades do. I wish the Young People's Page every success. I find it most helpful.—E.

Answer: God does not expect of us more than we are able to do, and He well understands the circumstances of our health and lives, although those around us may sometimes misunderstand us. Some of God's greatest saints have been handicapped by weak bodies, but have accomplished glorious triumphs for the cause of Christ. Do your best and God will bless and give you daily strength.

Courtesy makes the rough places much easier, and helps to smooth away life's harshness

MY FAVORITE QUOTATION

MOST young people have a favorite quotation. It has become lodged in the mind because of the blessing it carried or the new impulse it originated; or perhaps its harmless humor brought cheer on a day of gloom, and, therefore, we cherish it. At any rate it is our favorite quotation!

Do you not think that it would be helpful if we shared these heart-throbs with one another? Who knows how much blessing or cheer would result to "War Cry" readers from the printing of your favorite quotation?

Now, get your pen and paper, and write, in a clear, legible manner, the quotation you desire to submit—whether poetry or prose, the work of a well-known or little-known author, Scriptural or anonymous—giving, if at all possible, its source. Do not fail to include your full name and address, and mail to The Editor, 20 Albert Street, Toronto, Ont.

THIS WEEK'S

Selection is by Sister E. Whibley, Hamilton II Corps

WAYS TO SUCCESS

WORK hard. Remember that 98 per cent. perspiration and 2 per cent. talent made many a genius. Study hard. You can pick the brains of the world.

Have initiative. Ruts often deepen into graves.

Love your work. Then you will find pleasure in mastering it.

Be exact. Slipshod methods bring slipshod results.

Have the spirit of conquest. Thus you can successfully battle with and overcome difficulties.

Cultivate friendliness. Friendliness is to a person what perfume is to a flower.

Share your gifts with others. The real test of business greatness lies in giving opportunity to others.

Do your best. The young man, or woman, who has done his, or her, best can leave results and consequences in the hands of God.

Laughter mattered not to him while there were perishing souls to be saved. He, followed by the mighty Army of Salvation, marched on heeding only the call of duty.

So, remember these splendid men, and when someone turns up the corners of his mouth in a grimace because you are striving to do the right thing. Don't be discouraged—KEEP RIGHT ON!

We are looking for you

The Salvation Army will search for missing persons in any part of the globe, befriend, and as far as possible, assist anyone in difficulty.

One dollar, should, where possible, be sent with enquiry, to help defray expenses.

HER GREAT NEED

The week-end meetings at LIPPINCOTT (Adjutant Greatrix, Captain Parsons) started off in splendid style when the Home League was in charge on Saturday night. Mrs. Colonel Attwell ably piloted the meeting through, the Home League Sisters taking part.

Sunday we welcomed Adjutant Dunkley, Lieutenant Bolton and six women Cadets. Lieutenant Bolton brought us the message in the morning, and a young girl volunteered to the Mercy-seat. Her cry was "I need Jesus!"

Adjutant Dunkley's message at night brought conviction to many and one backslider came home to God. Brigadier and Mrs. White, of the U.S.A., enjoyed the morning meeting with us and their testimonies were a great blessing.

We were glad to have Mrs. Major Steele with us for the Salvation meeting on Sunday night at ORILLIA (Adjutant and Mrs. Alderman). Our visitor delivered a stirring message and we rejoiced over three souls at the Cross.—W.W.

SOUL-SAVING LESSONS

We have been favored with a visit at RIVERDALE (Captain and Mrs. Pilfrey) from our Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel Burrows. The meetings were seasons of blessing and one backslider returned to the Fold.

Our Young People's Harvest Festival was under the leadership of Adjutant McLaren and the staff of the Children's Home. The messages of the day were helpful. The Young People were to the front again on Rally Day, when Major and Mrs. Spooner led on. The Major's earnest words went home and one seeker was registered.

Envoy Alward, who has recently returned from the West, brought us a message from the Word last Sunday. God blessed us with His presence and six seekers came to the Mercy-seat in the Salvation meeting.

IN FOR SOUL-SAVING

We launched our winter campaign at TODMORDEN (Captain Clitheroe, Lieutenant Knox) with a soul-stirring prayer-meeting at the home of one of our comrades. The Holy Spirit was felt throughout and one backslider returned to the Fold.

The Sunday meetings were times of rich spiritual blessing. We had with us Commandant Carroll (R) who ably piloted the meetings. In the afternoon our visitor visited the Company meeting, when the children enjoyed his words. In the night meeting Brother Walton told of his conversion and a young comrade was enrolled as a Senior Soldier.

We rejoiced at the close of the day at seeing four seekers kneeling at the Cross, making five seekers in three days. Hal-lujah!

We believe we are in for a great soul-saving campaign.—G.K.

MUSIC BROADCAST

The Band headed the Rally Day march at REGINA CITADEL (Ensign Ramsey, Lieutenant Honeychurch), this attracting much attention. The Young People, under the leadership of Young People's Sergeant Major Vincent took a prominent part in the indoor meeting.

THE SWEETEST THINGS OF LIFE

"The best things are nearest; breath in your nostrils, light in your eyes, flowers at your hand, the path of God just before you. Then do not grasp at the stars, but do life's plain common work as it comes, certain that daily duties and daily bread are among the sweetest things of life." — R. L. Stevenson.

A SPINNER OF SILK

Some Particulars Concerning the Industrious Spider

THE antics of a large spider which gave a free exhibition of aeronautics whilst suspended before the Editorial window recently, inspired an interested observer to hunt up a few particulars concerning these weird but industrious creatures. Here is the result:

The spider is one of the most useful of the insect friends of man. In fact, man's enemies are his natural food: Day and night he goes after the flies, mosquitoes, and other insects which man has come to recognize as pests. Spiders injure no plant food nor other product of human industry, and, contrary to the general belief they are as a rule, neither noxious nor injurious in any way.

The web that the spider makes is genuine silk, and the finest silk known. A thread long enough to reach around the earth would weigh but one pound.

These threads are so small in size that a million of them can lie side by side within a space not so wide as the length of a yardstick. On account of its fineness the thread of the spider is sometimes used for the cross-lines of telescopes.

There is a species that build airships. This spider anchors itself with its feet, and then sends a number of strands of fine silk out through its spinnerets. When enough silk has been spun, the spider lets go its grip on the ground, the wind catches the silk, and away he goes for miles.

The tarantula, the giant spider of South America, has a vicious bite, but will not harm unless molested. There is some doubt as to the degree of poison properly attributable to a tarantula bite, but some authorities question its poisonous qualities altogether.

Solomon paid tribute to the spider by recording its readiness to build its home anywhere and in any circumstances. One of these little creatures is said to have saved the life of one of the kings of Scotland by spinning with marvellous rapidity a web across the mouth of a cave within which he was concealed. His pursuers passed the entrance of the cave, convinced that the web across its mouth proved that no one had recently passed within. A web may be made in forty minutes.

IT IS ASTONISHING—

What little one really knows about the various metals that are in constant use during "the trivial round and common task." For example, there's that rugged substance, iron. A BETTER

DIVISION OF DAYS

Interest in proposed Calendar Reform is spreading throughout the World—Churches and Religious Bodies to Consider a Much-Vexed Problem

PROPOSALS for calendar reform are steadily meeting with consideration from leading statesmen and business men, and, with wider interest being evinced by the masses, there is less room for doubt that at no vastly distant date a change may be brought about.

For a long period of history most countries have followed the present division of days and months known as the Gregorian calendar, and while this, as a solar measure of the year, is almost perfect, it leaves internal irregularities unrectified. One of the principal disadvantages is that certain festival dates such as Easter, have a habit of "wandering" with annoying variability anywhere between March 22nd and April 25th. Fixation of this date, which is observed as a starting point for a great variety of human activities, would be a tremendous advantage to millions of people, and this fact has been recognized in official circles for many years.

Stabilization of Easter is now in the hands of the churches and, at their request, the secular aspects of the question have been passed by the League of Nations and by various European governments. Most of the Christian churches have indicated a willingness to accept this long-delayed reform, and the only obstacle to its immediate consideration is the lack of convenient ecclesiastical machinery to carry out the task.

It is interesting to note that no fewer than two hundred calendar reforms have been examined by the League of Nations, but most of these were found to be merely minor variations of a few general types.

The two main groups of reform are based on the application of a new principle. It is recognized that there is no possibility of constructing from 365 days a regular calendar, containing months or quarters of equal length. This object, however, may be attained by means of 364 days. It is therefore proposed to adopt this number of days as basis for the calendar, the 365th day (two days in Leap Year) being considered an extra day.

With regard to the 364 days, the alternative proposals are:

- (1)—Twelve months, eight of which would consist of 30 days and four of 31 days.
- (2)—Thirteen months of 28 days each.

Both these schemes have the advantage, not possessed by earlier proposals, that by the adoption of the extra day, a perpetual calendar, or invariable calendar would be established.

The study of calendar reform by churches throughout the world has been initiated through a resolution passed by the Universal Christian Council, which recently met in Geneva. It is claimed that definite progress has been registered, and that reform may be brought about at an early period.

Wanted—A Flame!

A Playwright's Challenge to the Church of Christ

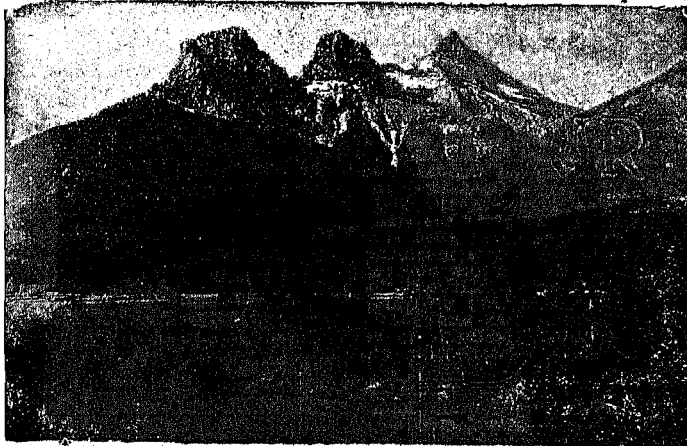

"I HAVE nothing to say unless some Pentecostal flame of revelation of the Spirit will descend on me and inspire me with a message, the sound whereof shall go out into all lands, and realize for us at last the Kingdom of the Power and the Glory, for ever and ever, Amen."

The above utterance, according to "Public Opinion," is put into the mouth of one of George Bernard Shaw's characters, and one might easily suppose it to be the exclamation of an evangelist whose soul had been strangely stirred by some deep spiritual emotion. It constitutes a challenge; for once more the Christian church is brought face to face with the fact that playwrights and actors often seize on the tremendous actualities and needs of life, incorporating them into their plays; while the paramount message entrusted to the church is often treated as if it were of far less importance.

Why should these things be?

CANADIAN CAMERA-ETTES

THE THREE SISTERS, CANMORE

Nature has thrown up the Canadian Rockies on so vast a scale that the human mind can with difficulty grasp their greatness, except by some comparison. One of the most notable sights obtained by the traveller at Canmore is the striking profile of "The Three Sisters," companion mountain peaks, which reach the amazing height of nearly ten thousand feet. "Fifty Years of Good Work"

Says the Toronto "Globe" in Referring to the Golden Jubilee
Celebrations

THE Toronto "Globe," in an Editorial, which was published during Congress week, under the above caption, had some very kindly things to say regarding The Army's fifty years of effort in the Dominion and its present sphere of influence. We reprint the Editorial in full:

"This week The Salvation Army has been observing the fiftieth anniversary of its establishment in Canada. It has been a half century of hard and unceasing work for those whom the established churches do not succeed in reaching, and the results have been gratifying to a degree perhaps not anticipated by those who first raised the banner.

"Older people will recall that, in the earlier stages, The Army had a hard row to hoe. The novelty of its procedure aroused criticism, and not a little ridicule. But gradually sincerity of purpose and an unquestionable enthusiasm broke down an opposition that never was justified. The ranks began to swell. The Army's appeal was heard by men and women who had reached a stage where the light of hope had almost ceased to shine. The Officers went down to the dark places, and took with them a message of encouragement that enheartened the depraved and the disconsolate. Despondent humanity was given encouragement, and life again became worth living.

"Gradually the scope of The Army's operations was enlarged, and now it stands as one of the great religious and philanthropic forces at work in the world. All walks of life are represented in its ranks. It has provided Hostels for those without shelter. Its representatives meet the discharged prisoner at the jail gate, and help him to regain a place in the life of the community. The courts are visited, and those who are on the verge of a criminal career are cared for and assisted in breaking with evil associations.

"And still, even in the heyday of its success, the men and women of The Army go into the highways and byways to preach the Gospel of Salvation. Canada is vastly the better for the half-century of zealous endeavor that is being celebrated by this dynamic Organization."

ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

We had with us for Thanksgiving week-end at NANAIMO (Captain and Mrs. Chapman) the Victoria Young People's Band, numbering twenty-four instruments with their leader, Stanley Martin, and accompanied by Adjutant and Mrs. Sharp, who conducted the week-end meetings. The Band left Victoria early on Saturday morning, arriving in Nanaimo at 6.15 p.m., after giving a musical program at Cobble Hill, Duncan, and Ladysmith on the way.

After doing justice to a good supper at Nanaimo, the Band-lads held an Open-air meeting, following which they gave a splendid musical program in the Hall.

The Holiness meeting on Sunday was inspiring and after more Open-air, another program was given in the Hall, during the afternoon. At night the visiting and home Bands rendered good service at both outdoor and indoor meetings.

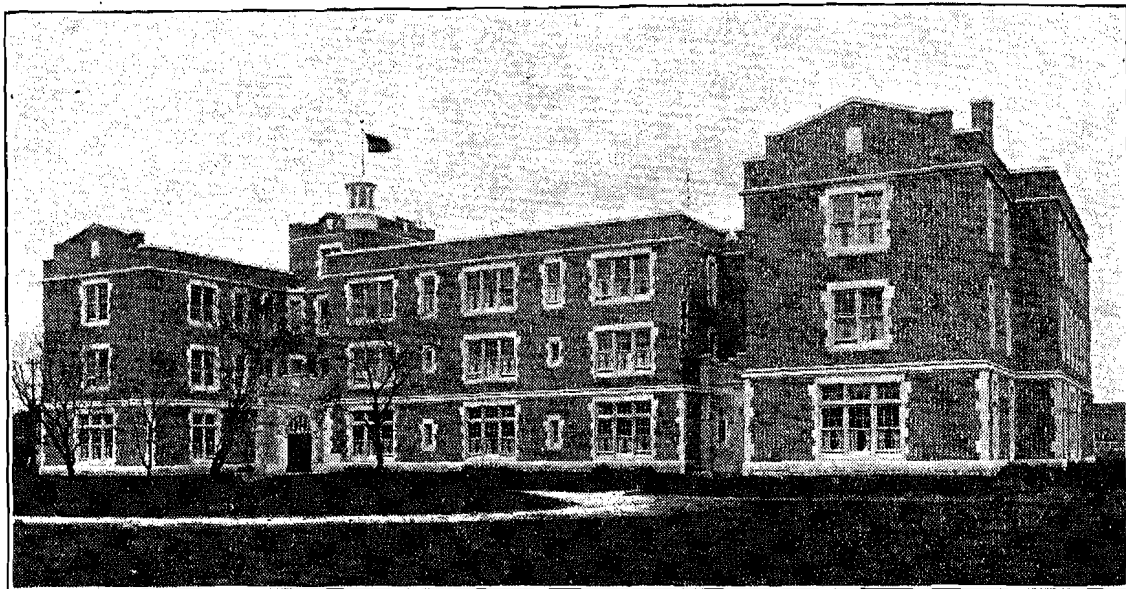

Monday morning the visitors cheered the patients in the hospital. At noon the Band left for Victoria, giving programs at Chemainus, Cowichan Bay and Shawigan Lake. Bandmaster Martin is to be congratulated on his good work with his Band-lads.—J.H.

On Sunday at LEASIDE (Captain Simester, Lieutenant Wood) a welcome was extended to Cadets Barton, Patterson and Sharp. Captain Gennery, of the Training Garrison Staff, accompanied the Cadets, and conducted the services held during the day. These gatherings were both interesting and profitable.

The End of the Journey

The Army to Open Another Home for Aged Men in Winnipeg

Front view of The Army's Training Garrison in Winnipeg, a portion of which is to be devoted to an Aged Men's Home

WHO'S heart is not moved by the plight of aged men and women left friendless and lonely in their sunset years?

"Where are your friends, Dad?" an Army Officer will often ask an aged man or silver-haired woman. "I haven't any," will come the pitiful response.

No friends! What must it be to be lonely? The appeal of such always touches The Army's heart-strings. And to practical purpose, for there are Homes for the aged in all parts of the world.

Commissioner Hay has always had a tender spot for such. Only last year a new Home for Aged Men was opened in Toronto to meet a long-felt want. Here, in their declining years are Darbys who delight in the homely and congenial atmosphere of this comfortable abode, and enjoy the friendship of the Officers who labor so devotedly to bring cheer to their eventide.

Another such Home is about to be opened in Winnipeg. The "Sunset Lodge" in that city has already opened its doors to the Joans, and now the Commissioner has arranged for the reception of the Darbys. A part of the spacious Training Garrison has been set aside for this purpose.

Here, there will be provided commodious accommodation for forty men, who will find congenial companionship around them, and will be cared for as lovingly as if they were in homes of their own.

Preparations are well in hand for the opening on November 15th, and everything is being done to provide for the comfort and advantage of the aged gentlemen who will make this airy, bright and splendidly-appointed building their home.

Brigadier Cummings, who is in charge of the Men's Hostel, in Winnipeg, and is the District Officer for Men's Social Work, will supervise the opening of the Home, of which Major Harry Dray has been appointed Superintendent.

That the new Aged Men's Home will meet a sorely-felt want goes without saying, and that the step the Commissioner has taken to meet this need will be appreciated is a foregone conclusion.

Corps Officers who are in touch with lonely, aged men, desirous of entering the Home, are asked to communicate with the Superintendent, 1091 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, Man.

"A Magnificent Work"

"The Eastern Chronicle" pays Tribute to the Efforts of Women Officers in Trenton

UNDER the above caption, "The Eastern Chronicle" tells of the magnificent work done by two women Officers in the town of Trenton. The following particulars of the service rendered to the community, by these Officers, Captain Margaret Pope and Lieutenant Helen Marshall, are extracted from this paper:

"In four months, practically unaided, these two Officers distributed 24,000 meals to all and sundry, but mostly to children. Each day they made three or four large boilers of substantial soup, and this they distributed with bread to the hungry children.

"In their work they were without help so that they could not safeguard their charity in any way, but gave to the deserving and undeserving alike. One pitiful feature is that trucks went through the country-side collecting gifts of vegetables from the farms, which were gladly given, but the trucks took their loads of vegetables into the town and sold them. The work of the two Officers is now being officially recognized by the town authorities, and safeguards are being placed about the work to prevent any such abuses and to assist the two in their wonderful work.

"Incidentally the need of such service as has been given by the two Salvation Army Officers during the four summer months throws a lurid light on the sorry conditions obtaining in the town."

BADLY NEEDED

*An Implied Compliment to
"The War Cry"*

A columnist in the Winnipeg "Free Press" includes the following story in a recent issue:

A salesman was doing his best to induce the good lady of the house to purchase a vacuum cleaner.

"And does it really pick up the dirt?" she inquired.

"Yes, madam," he replied, "Only yesterday I ran it over one of those French novels and when I'd finished it looked like 'The War Cry'."

We doff our hats to this implied tribute to The Army's White-Winged Messenger, but still are of the opinion that what is needed for much of the pernicious literature of to-day is an incinerator, and not a vacuum-cleaner!

MODEL SERGEANT-MAJOR

Among the interesting visitors to the Golden Jubilee Congress was Sergeant-Major G. W. Lockyer, of Picton Corps. A few weeks ago he was summoned to attend a session of the Town Council. The Council wanted The Army to hold its Open-air on side streets only. Our comrade insisted that they be allowed to retain the stand that, for years, had enabled The Army to minister to many hundreds weekly.

The members of the Council were curious regarding what held the large crowds together for an hour and a half. The Sergeant-Major told them that it was God's power in the Gospel message.

In the course of a conversation, with a "War Cry" representative, it was divulged that our comrade has arisen at 4.30 a.m., for over twenty years, to enjoy a season of prayer and Bible reading. God bless this real Army warrior.
